Pledge Backing For Measure to Aid Farmers in Drought Areas

House and Senate Committees Have Joint Hearing

BILL IS UNOPPOSED

Provides Maximum Individual Loan of $100 to Farmers

Madison—(AP)—The senate and assembly agriculture committees, viewing a dire picture of the situation facing thousands of farmers in the Wisconsin drought regions, gave assurance today they will act favorably on a bill to make $1,000,000 of livestock feed loans or grants available.

The committee held a joint hearing on the administration bill for a system of loans paid from the state treasury and backed up by liquor taxes, but were told the $1,000,000 fund it provides is far too small.

The bill allows a maximum individual loan of $100. The entire fund would be consumed by about 10,000 farmers.

Dean Chris L. Christensen of the university college of agriculture told the committees that three to four times that many must have government help within a few weeks to save their dairy herds. He was supported by a representative group of northern Wisconsin farmers who asserted that in many barns there is only a bale or two of hay between the cattle and starvation.

Estimates Cost

Dean Christensen predicated it will cost between $2,000,000 and $3,000,000 to provide help for all who need it and urged the legislature to make an active demand on the works progress administration for renewal of the work program cut off last November.

Those who spoke on the bill—and none appeared against it—urged an amendment to give the farmers grants that could be paid off on work programs instead of in cash.

The bill requires each county board to determine 15 days after the act becomes effective whether it wants to participate in the fund. Officials estimated 40 counties in the central and northern sections would participate.

The Wisconsin Farm Credit administration would make the allotments to the counties and, through drought relief committees, they would make non-interest bearing loans to farmers, maturing in June, 1939.

Repayment Provision

On a $100 loan the farmer would pay back to the county $50 by June, 1938, and $50 the following June, this money to revert to the state. In case of defaults the state would withhold from a county's share of the liquor taxes the amount of any allotment not returned.

Dean Christensen, County Agent W. J. Rogan of Wausau and officials of farm and welfare groups of Barron county urged consideration of a work plan of repayment. Such an arrangement under the original bill would be optional with the county boards but Dean Christensen said he thought it should be made clear.

Rogan told the legislators that the problem confronting the farmers now is far more serious than in 1933 and 1934.

"If something is not done within two or three weeks," he said, "we are going to see cars of livestock loaded out of the state by the hundreds and we will not be able to seed the land for next year."

Approves Credit Plan

The assembly concurred today in the joint finance committee bill continuing the Wisconsin Farm Credit administration for another two years, but reduced its appropriation for the next biennium to $80,000. The senate had allowed $120,000.

By substantial majorities the house defeated amendments to limit the operations of the organization, which assists county media-

Mayor Orders Cleanup Of Fairground Shacks To End Use by Hoboes

BODY IS FOUND

Dr. R. G. Miller, Richmond, Va., dentist, was reported today to have confessed he administered chloroform that killed Cleo Sprouse (above) whose body was found Tuesday.

Stating that conditions at the fair grounds, where "Sturgis Slim" Brown, a transient was beaten to death Sunday, were degrading to the city, Mayor John Goodland last night, with the approval of the council, ordered the place cleaned up.

Chief of Police George T. Prim was instructed to move out anyone living in the city owned shacks on the grounds. The street department was ordered to move the shacks off the grounds or board them up to prevent any transients using them in the future.

The shack in which Brown came to his death is owned by the city and at one time was used as a tool house for street projects.

Continue Hunt

Police today continued their search for a Joe Brady, a transient accused of administering the beating that was a contributing factor to if not the direct cause of Brown's death.

Burt Sands, occupant of the shack in which Brown died, and Don "Red" Kennedy, another witness, testified at the inquest Tuesday that they saw Brady striking Brown during an altercation that followed an afternoon drinking party at the shanty.

A warrant for Brady's arrest on a charge of third degree murder was issued yesterday by District Attorney Raymond P. Dohr, the complaint signed by Chief of Police George T. Prim.

Kennedy was sentenced to the county jail on a charge of vagrancy yesterday and Sands was brought in later on a charge of drunkenness. He pleaded guilty and was sentenced to the county jail for 50 days.

Freedom of Press Called Issue in Oil Indictments

Counsel for Trade Publications Attacks From New Angle

Madison —(AP)— Counsel for two trade publications indicted with oil companies and executives under the Sherman anti-trust act, attacked government charges today from a new angle—freedom of the press.

Harry Payer of Cleveland, attorney for the National Petroleum News and Platt's Oilgram, called the indictments a menace to normal market journalism and an attempt to set aside the bill of rights.

He declared the indictments were full of "adjectival denunciation and adverbal invective" but that they presented no claim the trade journals published any fictitious prices. He said the papers reported actual sales and were not concerned with whether prices had been raised artificially as the government alleges.

Try to Block Trial

Defense attorneys are attempting to block trial on indictments returned here charging the companies with price-fixing and accusing three publications, including the Chicago Journal of Commerce, of knowingly publishing artificially raised prices as prevailing quotations.

Seven presidents and 50 officials of oil companies, one by one, marched before Federal Judge Patrick T. Stone yesterday and pleaded innocent to charges they conspired to fix retail gasoline prices and jobbers' margins of profits.

Hearings on defense motions to quash the indictments and demurrers as to the jurisdiction of the court resumed today before Judge Stone.

If the indictments are upheld by Judge Stone, the government attorneys said the trial would begin June 1.

New Move Made To Free Mooney

California Legislative Committee Votes Full Pardon

Sacramento, Calif.—(AP)— A state legislative committee's vote to give Thomas J. Mooney a full pardon opened a new avenue today of possible freedom for the man who was convicted of the 1916 Preparedness day parade bombing in San Francisco.

The action by the California assembly's rules committee, recommending passage of a pardon resolution, shifted immediate interest from Mooney's court fight for exoneration.

His habeas corpus petition, contending he was convicted through perjury, now is before the state supreme court on recommendation of Referee A. E. Shaw that it be denied.

As approved by a four to two vote of the committee yesterday, the resolution directs:

"That the said Thomas J. Mooney be and is hereby granted a full and complete pardon, and that the said Thomas J. Mooney be and is hereby set at liberty."

Approval of the measure by a majority in both houses of the legislature would, in the opinion of some legal authorities, be equivalent under the state constitution to an executive pardon.

Portion of Trapper's Body Found in Debris

Goodman, Wis. —(AP)— Part of the body of Fred Gustafson, 45-year-old trapper, was found yesterday near the ruins of his dynamited cabin southwest of here. Sheriff Arthur Woul said identification was made through a tattoo mark on the chest. Authorities blamed the explosion and death of Gustafson on accidental discharge of dynamite he had stored in the cabin.

Confesses Guilt In Girl's Death

Richmond, Va., Dentist Admits He Administered Chloroform

Richmond, Va.— (AP)— Dr. R. G. Miller, a middle-aged dentist, was quoted by Sheriff J. Mason Smith today as confessing he administered the chloroform that killed pretty Cleo Sprouse, whose body was found Tuesday beside a cemetery wall.

Smith said the dentist expressed a wish for a "quick trial."

The sheriff attributed both a verbal and a written statement to the dentist. He said Miller, arrested at Charlottesville on a charge of murder, signed a statement soon after officers brought him to Henrico county (Richmond) jail.

Previously the sheriff said, Miller confessed verbally while enroute from Charlottesville, where the body of the 18-year-old high school girl was found Tuesday beside a stone wall separating the cemetery and golf course of the University of Virginia.

The dentist was quoted as saying he placed the body there after nightfall Monday. She was dead then, he said, from chloroform he administered as he prepared to perform an illegal operation in a car six miles outside the city.

Miller insisted he was not responsible for the girl's condition, Sheriff Smith said.

Badger Firm in Attack On Labor Relations Act

Washington — (AP)—The Marathon Electric Manufacturing company of Wisconsin filed in the supreme court today a new challenge of the constitutionality of the national labor relations act.

Arguments have been heard on five other cases contesting the legislation which guarantees collective bargaining to workmen.

Eight other disputes involving the act also have been appealed to the high tribunal, but it has not announced whether it will pass on them.

The Wisconsin company sought to restrain the national labor relations board from holding a public hearing on a complaint that the manufacturing concern was guilty of unfair labor practices in the discharge of employes.

It appealed from a ruling against the company by the seventh circuit court of appeals. The concern (which manufactures electric fans and motors) said it was engaged in intra-state business and the federal government had no jurisdiction.

Canadian Premier to Visit at White House

Toronto—(AP)—Prime Minister W. L. MacKenzie King, invited to a White House tete-a-tete with President Roosevelt, primed himself today for a discussion of what he termed "matters of mutual interest to the United States and Canada."

The Canadian executive declined to elaborate on the subjects likely to come up in the White House talk tomorrow. He said only that "there are a number of matters which must be carefully considered" before he leaves for London in the spring for the coronation and sessions of the British imperial conference.

"Not the least important of these are some of the questions likely to arise at the imperial conference itself," he added.

Workers in 2 Departments Given Raises

Street and Relief Group Employes to Get More Money

BUY TWO TRUCKS

Also Discuss Salaries With Three Elected Officials

What Council Did:

Increased wages of employes of street and relief departments.

Discussed salary waivers as committee of the whole with city assessor, engineer and treasurer.

Voted to purchase two trucks for street department.

Wage increases for employes of the street and relief departments, ranging from $5 to $15 per month for salaried workers and 5 cents an hour for others, were voted by the common council at a regular meeting last night.

Another chapter concerning the return of the part of salaries waived by elected city officials in 1932 was opened when the council discussed the matter as a committee of the whole with the city assessor, treasurer and engineer. No report was made by the committee.

The city engineer was instructed to draw plans and specifications for the proposed PWA project for paving about 7½ miles of city streets. Mayor Goodland reported that PWA officials indicated the project would be approved and urged the council to take the necessary steps so that the project would not be delayed this summer. He pointed out that installation of water and sewer mains would be necessary on some of the streets before pavement could be laid and advised that assessment of benefits and damages on the streets involved in the program be made as soon as possible.

Will Buy Trucks

Upon the recommendation of the street and bridge committee, the council voted to purchase a 1½-ton and a half-ton truck for the street department. A 1-bag concrete mixer and a carload of cement also will be purchased.

With the exception of the sweepers, salaries of the street department employes were set at the 1932 scale upon the recommendation of the street and bridge committee. The new wage scale is: assistant street commissioner $150 per month, mechanic $125, blacksmith $65, painters $95, clerk $115, utility man

Woman Is Convicted in Slaying of Dan Shine

Elkader, Iowa—(AP)—Minnie Hines, 54-year-old mother of 18 children, was convicted by a district court jury today of second-degree murder in connection with the slaying of Dan Shine, Littleport, Iowa, farmer.

The jury returned the verdict after deliberating 22 hours and 15 minutes. Twenty-eight ballots were taken, the jury foreman said.

Mrs. Hines was the fifth person convicted in connection with the "marriage-murder" May 5, 1936, of Shine, 56-year-old farmer who married his housekeeper, Pearl Hines, 28, Mrs. Hines' niece, five days before he was slain.

Pearl Hines Shine and her harmonica-playing boy-lover, Maynard Lenox of East Dubuque, Ill., received life sentences for their part in the slaying.

BULLETIN

Paris —(AP)— The newspaper Paris Soir said tonight the Greek oil tanker Loukia had hit a mine off Capo de Creus, easternmost point on the Spanish mainland, resulting in a "terrific explosion."

Many of Loukia's crew of 24 were killed and wounded, the paper said in a dispatch from Port Vendres, France. The injured were trapped between flaming decks, the newspaper reported.

STARTS 35TH YEAR

Washington—(AP)— Senator George W. Norris, 75, of Nebraska began his thirty-fifth year in congress today by expressing faith in national progress, but impatience "because the pace is not faster."

"We are making headway for other important principles today, he said. "Now and again some gains are impaired, but in the long run our gains more than make up for what is lost along the way.

"I look ahead to getting permanently out of the depression. However this dispute over the courts' powers is settled, I believe it must and will be settled in a way to make possible a more equitable distribution of wealth."

2 Perish, 11 are Injured as Fire Razes Tenements

200 Driven to Streets; Fear Other Bodies Remain in Debris

New York—(AP)—Flames roared through two five-story tenements in the teeming regions of New York's lower east side early today, killing at least two persons, driving 200 more into the streets, and injuring 11 men of the massed forces fighting the most spectacular tenement fire in years.

Mopping up in the ruins in the heart of the Ghetto, firemen found two bodies burned beyond recognition, and predicted that several more were still in the shells of the ancient buildings.

Flames burst from the upper stories of the first building, at 137 Suffolk street, with the intensity of a blast furnace shortly after 3 a. m. Within two hours a similar tenement next door was roaring, too, from top to bottom. The bulk of Manhattan's fire force battled from adjoining roofs to halt further spread of the flames.

From all parts of the island the flames were visible, twisting high into the air as the buildings, typical of the crowded east side, burned like pine torches. One frightened dweller turned in an alarm a mile away.

The fire was discovered by a girl returning from a party and she notified a policeman. As the alarms started sounding, police ran through the narrow, darkened hallways, pounding on doors, driving the 200 families into the streets. Firemen carried dozens down ladders from upper floors.

Franc May be Pegged At About 22 to Dollar

Paris —(AP)— Definite pegging of the French franc at about 22 to the dollar and creation of a free gold market was forecast for this weekend by informed financial quarters today.

This is a further devaluation of about 2½ per cent.

Premier Leon Blum is prepared to set a definite value on the national currency in a new effort to extricate his government from current financial difficulties, these sources said.

Official financial circles maintained silence on the predictions but acknowledged the socialist premier "has a strong trump up his sleeve which he expects to pull out at the right moment."

(The franc is currently quoted at 4.65 cents, about 21½ to the dollar. At the rate of 22 to the dollar, the franc's value would approximate 4.54 cents.)

Parties and Leading Candidates in 1936 Race Spent Nearly 24 Million

Washington—(AP)—The senate campaign expenditures committee disclosed today that political parties, their major candidates, and a host of independent organizations spent $23,973,329 in the 1936 presidential campaign. It was by far the most costly in American history.

The committee's final report, recommending drastic tightening of election laws, said the total cost of the election might approach $48,000,000, if the "tremendous volume" of money spent by individuals and local organizations could be counted.

The Republican national committee and allied organizations spent $14,189,202, while similar groups supporting President Roosevelt paid out $9,228,406.

The total campaign expenditure averaged 52 cents for every ballot cast.

The investigators urged new legislation to halt coercion of voters, clarify reporting of expenditures, and forbid political contributions by labor unions.

More than one-third of all contributions were collected from 3,240 persons who gave $500 or more each, the committee said.

Questionnaires answered by 2,000 of these big contributors showed that 63 per cent "were in some way affiliated with corporations," while 4 per cent were employed by the federal government.

Other highlights of the report were:

The Du Pont families of Wilmington, Del., spent more than any other, 12 members donating $510,370 to the Republican party and kindred organizations.

Alf M. Landon, Republican presidential candidate, spent not a single penny in his own behalf, all his expenses being borne by the party.

President Roosevelt's personal expenditures were $20 for postage and $650 in donations to Democratic organizations.

In 1928 the Republicans spent $6,256,000, and the Democrats $5,342,000.

Expects House To Disagree on Neutrality Act

McReynolds Looks for Fight Over Powers Of President

OFFERS OWN PLAN

Pittman Measure Given Senate's O. K. by 62 to 6 Vote

Washington —(AP)— Chairman McReynolds (D-Tenn.) of the house foreign affairs committee predicted today the house and senate would disagree on the amount of discretion the president should have in controlling the export of goods to warring nations.

He said he believed his committee would substitute his own neutrality proposal for the Pittman "peace act of 1937," passed yesterday by the senate.

McReynolds' measure would give the president broader discretion in placing restrictions on the shipment of war materials to belligerents.

The Pittman measure, approved by the senate 62 to 6 after three days of heated debate, would:

Prohibit export of munitions to belligerents.

Allow other goods to be shipped to warring nations, provided foreigners held title to them before they left this country.

Give the president discretion to say what goods, other than munitions, could be shipped to belligerents on American ships.

Ban on Travel

Outlaw American travel on ships of belligerents, except under rules laid down by the president.

Ban American buying and selling of belligerents' bonds or obligations.

Prevent the arming of American ships trading with belligerents.

The senate accepted an amendment proposed by Senator Bone (D-Wash.) to withdraw government protection from American ships carrying goods in violation of the law.

The "peace act" brought heated attacks from Senators Borah (R-Idaho) and Johnson (R-Calif.), who had teamed their oratory against Woodrow Wilson's League of Nations proposal.

Borah contended the bill would bring "contempt and assault" on the United States, while Johnson called it a "scuttle and run" policy.

Voting with them against the bill were Senators Austin (R-Vt.), Bridges (R-N. J.), Geery (D-R. I.), and Lodge (R-Mass.). Senators King (D-Utah), Copeland (D-N. Y.) and Gibson (R-Vt.) were paired against the measure.

Increase Asked For British Army

Total Fund Nearly Half Again as Much as For 1936

London—(AP)—The house of commons was told today that Britain's "mechanized and modernized" army's estimated expenditure for 1937 "in defense of the empire and discharge of international obligations" would total £82,175,000 ($410,870,000) almost half again as much as for 1936.

With yesterday's 1937 naval estimated of $525,325,000, the total armory and navy figures comprise the biggest armaments bill Great Britian ever has known in times of peace—$936,195,000. The air force estimates are still to come.

Alfred Duff Cooper, secretary of state for war, told the house of commons $95,270,000 of the $131,465,000 increase over the 1936 expenditure would be raised by loans, leaving $315,600,000 as the total 1937 expense to be placed on the official budget.

The army personnel, he said in discussing the army's share of Great Britain's greatest peacetime rearmament program, would be increased to 168,900, exclusive of units in India, as compared with 158,400 in 1936 and 136,400 in 1914.

The increased expenditure, he explained, was due mainly to "expansion and acceleration of the program for bringing our military preparations up to date."

"Our joint aim," he said, "is to produce a military force which will be adequate to supply garrisons in peace at home and overseas, to maintain order in the empire and provide for a force to support the policy of his majesty's government in defense of the empire and the discharge of their international obligations."

Judge Calls Recess in Bank Commission Suit

Milwaukee — (AP) — Circuit Judge John C. Kleczka called an informal recess today in the trial of the state banking commission's suit against the First Wisconsin National bank in an effort to halt continued controversy over representations on bond valuations.

This was the forty-third day of the trial. The commission is seeking to recover collateral held by the First Wisconsin for loans to the now defunct Liberty State bank and its president, I. J. Rosenberg.

George A. Afeldt, commission counsel, and Robert S. Marx, defense counsel, spent most of the morning session arguing over the proper valuation of a block of real estate mortgage bonds owned by the Liberty before it closed July 18, 1932.

Lewis' Faction Pushes Drive in Steel Industry

Forty Leaders Take Up Strategic Positions In Dozen States

OPPONENTS ACTIVE

Agreement May be Signed Monday in Motors Dispute

Detroit—(AP)—An agreement disposing of issues of hours, wages and working conditions unsettled at the end of the recent strikes that paralyzed General Motors plants may be signed Monday, corporation officials said today after conferences with union leaders were adjourned over the weekend.

Representatives of the United Automobile Workers of America said the size of a national minimum wage is the remaining point at issue. They said the corporation offered $5 a day for men and $4 for women, while the union is demanding $6 for men and $5.20 for women.

Asked if an agreement would be signed Monday, C. E. Wilson, vice president who has headed the General Motors negotiators during most of the 13 days of conferences, said, "it is possible."

Pittsburgh— (AP)— The committee for industrial organization, holding a contract with "big steel" as an opening wedge, spread its drive today to enlist members through the $5,000,000,000 industry.

Forty captains of the John L. Lewis forces went back to strategic positions in a dozen states, with instructions to speed up organization work, but to maintain industrial peace.

A 12-month agreement signed Tuesday night between the committee and the Carnegie-Illinois Steel corporation, largest subsidiary of United States Steel, became the spearhead of the organization drive.

The Lewis group pushed its campaign while supporters of company-sponsored employes' representation systems mapped their defense program.

A committee of Carnegie-Illinois employes' representatives met today, to study plans for sustaining their method of contact with the company, cheered by an official notification that the corporation would zealously guard the right of its 120,000 workers to work and to bargain individually or collectively outside of any union.

Others Consider Course

Meantime, independent steel corporations, producing 65 per cent of the industry's output, apparently still were undecided on the course they would steer through the unprecedented situation created by Carnegie-Illinois' recognition of the Lewis forces as collective bargaining agents for union members.

There was no question, however, but that the $5,000,000,000 industry was anxious to avoid any interruption of its spectacular recovery from a long depression which had cost it $1,000,000,000 or more, particularly at a time when its wheels were spinning about as fast as they have in a decade.

Production today in tons virtually was the same as at the all-time peak period of 1929; orders were piling in faster than they could be filled and prospects were the brightest in years.

The steel workers organizing committee, headed by Philip Murray, right-hand lieutenant of Lewis, announced it soon will demand recognition from the independents similar to that granted by the United States Steel subsidiary. The committee already claims 200,000 members among the industry's 550,000 wage earners and announced 6,800 have joined this week.

Farmer Complains His Bride, Money Missing in Chicago

Frank Pagac, 55-year-old Outagamie county farmer, was a groom without a bride today.

He asked Chicago police last night to search for his bride, the former Mrs. Rose Musil or Maisl and $1,800 in Pagac currency he said she had when she left him Tuesday to "see a friend."

Pagac told police he married Mrs. Musil in the Outagamie county courthouse Feb. 25 after a correspondence courtship through a "lonely hearts" club.

Records at the courthouse show Pagac and Mrs. Musil applied for a license Feb. 16 and were married the following week by County Judge Fred V. Heinemann. She signed her name as Rusena Musil and gave her age as 39. He gave his address as route 2, W. De Pere.

He said he sold his property for $1,000 and drew $800 in savings from a bank because she told him she had a "bigger and better" farm in Bradley, Mich. They started for Bradley.

On entering Chicago, he said his bride advised him it was a "wicked city" and that he should let her keep the money temporarily.

Roosevelt Talk Tonight to be of Major Importance

President Expected to Make Indirect Reference to Court Plan

Washington—(AP)— Administration officials emphasized today that President Roosevelt's speech this evening to Democrats "Victory dinners" would be of major importance and would refer indirectly to his court reorganization program.

It will lay the groundwork, these officials said, for a more detailed statement of his judiciary and other objectives in the "fireside chat" from the White House next Tuesday.

Mr. Roosevelt was understood to have given a rough outline of his dinner speech at a conference late yesterday with Vice President Garner, Speaker Bankhead, Senator Robinson (D-Ark.) and Representative Rayburn (D-Texas), Democratic congressional leaders.

Democrats conversant with the president's intentions said he would talk in terms of problems more than remedies, much as he did in his inaugural address delivered under chill, clouded skies to a solemn crowd at the capitol four years ago today.

Employment Problem

He was represented by them as still believing, as he said then, that "our greatest primary task is to put people to work."

Estimates of that day showed about 15,000,000 were unemployed. The American Federation of Labor recently numbered the idle at about 10,000,000.

The speech this evening will be broadcast at 9:30 p. m., central standard time. The occasion will be one of frank Democratic celebration, designed to raise money to pay off the $430,000 party deficit.

More than 1,300 persons have paid $100 each for tickets to the dinner Mr. Roosevelt will attend. All but $5 will go to the party. Some 1,400 more will sit down to a $10-a-plate dinner of "Young Democrats" several blocks away, where Mrs. Roosevelt will be guest of honor.

W. Forbes Morgan, party treasurer, said 1,162 dinners were scheduled in 43 states. Vice President Garner will be the honor guest at the $50-a-plate dinner in New York.

Rivers Rising in Southern Region

Above Normal at Beloit And Janesville but Under Feb. 21 Peak

Beloit —(AP)— The Rock river was 5½ feet above normal here today as the result of the thaw and last night's rain. It was 3 feet below the peak of the Feb. 21 flood period, however. A few merchants moved stocks of goods from store basements when ice jams threatened to send the stream out of its banks. The jams were dynamited.

Monroe, Wis. —(AP)— The Sugar and Pecatonica rivers rose today after a night of rain and thawing. Water was 18 inches deep on Highway 11, near Browntown, and county Trunk F, near Brodhead.

Janesville —(AP)— Rock river this morning had risen seven-tenths of a foot at the Fourth avenue bridge here since Wednesday. This still is 1.2 feet below the level of Feb. 21. The river has remained stationary since 6 a. m. The level of Lake Koshkonong also was reported up following an all night rain.

Insurgents Burrow Under Government Positions in Spain

Madrid—(AP)— Human moles burrowed under the University City no-man's-land today, carrying dynamite with which to break the deadlock of weeks of fighting.

Insurgent sappers have made repeated subterranean thrusts at the government positions in the clinic hospital on the northwestern outskirts of Madrid and the government defenders have laid protective mines.

A government mine was exploded last night, plunging the sector into another spasm of intense fighting—each side thought it was a signal for the attack of the other.

The insurgents apparently were digging a new tunnel toward the hospital when they hit a protective mine laid several weeks ago by government troops. The explosion ripped apart a small section of the building. Several insurgents were reported killed.

The insurgents swarmed from their trenches at the detonation and opened a brisk rifle and machine gun fire. Madrid's defenders counter-attacked and the area of battle spread to the El Pardo woods, further to the northwest, with artillery joining the battle.

Federation Asks New Pledge From Its Organizations

Lewis Silent on Demand as He Broadens Campaign Program

Washington—(AP)—Forces of John L. Lewis broadened their industrial unionization campaign today in the face of a new American Federation of Labor threat against members who support Lewis' committee for industrial organization.

Cheered by the agreement with the Carnegie-Illinois Steel corporation, Lewis' associates declared he would seek eventually to unionize all industrial workers in the United States.

Lewis himself, back in Washington, was silent on his next move and on the demand of the federation that its participating organizations repledge their loyalty.

Unions backing his committee for industrial organization were suspended last year from the A. F. of L., whose officers favor organization of workers by separate crafts instead of by entire industries.

Letter Published

While President William Green was enroute here from his Ohio home, the federation made public a letter to all member groups declaring the time has come "to draw a line and make a distinction between the American Federation of Labor and the committee for industrial organization."

The letter, signed by Green, said the committee for industrial organization had refused to arrange for a meeting with federation representatives to try to adjust their dispute and reunite organized labor.

The only possible interpretation of this refusal, Green said, is that the C. I. O. is persisting in trying "to impose the substitution of minority rule for a majority control within the organized labor movement."

(Lewis declares, on the other hand, that the rank and file of federation members are behind him.)

"In the issue which has arisen," Green continued, "there can be but one attitude which all can assume as members of the A. F. of L.; it must be uncompromising support of the American Federation of Labor. . . ."

NO ACTION IN MILWAUKEE

Milwaukee—(AP)—The Milwaukee Federated Trades council declined last night to take action on William Green's demand that a definite line be drawn between the American Federation of Labor and the committee for industrial organization.

Green, president of the A. F. of L., had written the council declaring the time had come for choosing between the C.I.O. policies and the A. F. of L. He asked for re-affirmation of allegiance to his leadership.

With no dissenters, the council voted to place Green's letter on file. This had been recommended by the council's executive board.

During discussion of the letter, numerous delegates expressed the opinion that the Milwaukee labor movement should keep itself clear of the controversy and preserve unity among local groups.

THREE JAILED IN BRUTAL SLAYING OF NEW YORK GIRL

An amazing story of savagery and moral degeneracy was uncovered by New York authorities while investigating the death of Joan Morvan, four. As a result her father and a woman with whom he lived were charged with felonious assault and improper guardianship, and the woman's brother, Howard Magnussen, 26, with murder and rape. Three are Injured In Auto Accidents

Salesman Hurt When Car Skids Off Highway 10 East of Waverly

Three persons were injured in two automobile accidents on Highway 10 about two miles east of Waverly Beach Wednesday night, according to Appleton police.

Mrs. William Walling, 935 N. Fifth street, Manitowoc, and Mrs. Morris Stern, 1201 New York avenue, Manitowoc, were hurt about 8:15 when Mrs. Walling's car was involved in an accident. The machine is believed to have left the road.

Mrs. Walling suffered injuries to her back, head and one hip while Mrs. Stern had a laceration of the scalp, a fracture of one arm and bruises about the face. Both were taken to St. Elizabeth hospital.

L. J. Bang, Madison salesman, driving east on Highway 10 about 10:40 last night skidded off the road and into a ditch. He suffered a back injury and a cut on one hand and was taken to the hospital.

Propose Many Changes in Welfare and Penal Policies

(Post-Crescent Madison Bureau)

Madison—Considerable attention is given the state reformatory at Green Bay in the exhaustive report submitted this week to Governor Phillip F. LaFollette by the Citizens' committee of public welfare, which recommended broad changes in state welfare and penal policies after a year of painstaking inquiry into a multitude of penal, charitable, pension, relief, crime, parole, health and educational problems.

If the committee's recommendations are put into effect by the legislature the board of control's administration of the reformatory would be superseded by a new state department of correction.

Prevention, rather than correction was proposed by the committee in the reform of the state's penal system. The committee recommended that the state concentrate on preventing delinquency and rehabilitating prisoners. The committee reported that trial judges have been sending prisoners to institutions without any knowledge of whether the institutions had any facilities for treating them, and have been imposing sentences of widely differing length for identical offenses.

Mental Defectives

Forty five per cent of the state prison inmates at Waupun and Green Bay are mental defectives and are merely confined, not treated for their mental condition, the committee told the governor and the legislature in its report. To correct this, the group suggested that judges impose limited indeterminate sentences, and direct prisoners to a central classification unit, where they would be examined and grouped.

The receiving unit would determine whether a prisoner would go to the state prison, to the reformatory, the hospital for the criminal insane, or some other institution, the committee said.

The citizens' committee includes some of the most prominent figures in Wisconsin, and is headed by William Spohn of Madison. Among its members are the Rev. Gilbert S. Cox, pastor of the Methodist Episcopal church, Appleton; and S. F. Shattuck, vice president of the Kimberly-Clark Corp. of Neenah.

The public lands office also reported the purchase of $53,000 worth of city of Appleton bonds during the past year. Other purchases included: Kaukauna city bonds, $55,600, and Calumet county bonds, $74,000.

The annual report of the land commissioners pointed out that "the continued better condition of the banks and payment of taxes has enabled us during this biennium to return to the policy of keeping our funds more fully invested."

Change Order of Services to be Held Good Friday

Mass of the Presanctified Will Take Place At Noon

A change in the order of Good Friday services at St. Joseph's church for this year has been announced by the pastor, the Rev. Cyprian Abler, O. M. Cap. The mass of the presanctified which in former years was held in the morning will this year take place at noon and will become a part of the Tre Ore services from 12 to 3 o'clock on Good Friday afternoon.

The change was deemed advisable because of the fact that many people cannot attend both the morning services and the Tre Ore services on Good Friday, and since the mass of the presanctified is a part of the church liturgy it is felt that making it a part of the three hours service will provide a solution to the problem.

There will be no morning service at St. Joseph's church on Good Friday, but the three hours service will begin at noon with the mass of the presanctified. An instruction will preceed the services, a sermon will be preached during the mass, vespers will be chanted after the mass, another sermon will be given and stations of the cross will conclude the Tre Ore devotions.

The mass of the presanctified, although it includes some of the prayers and ceremonies of the mass is not a real mass in the ordinary sense of the word, for the essential element, the consecration, is omitted. The sacred host is consecrated on Holy Thursday and this is brought to the altar on Good Friday in solemn procession from the side altar where it had been preserved. What follows is a communion service at which the celebrant alone receives the sacred host.

Catlin to Ask Reconsideration Of His Measure

Hopes Absent Members May Swing Tide in Favor Of Supervisor Bill

(Post-Crescent Madison Bureau)

Madison—Representatives of rural and urban Wisconsin Wednesday renewed their traditional rivalry on the floor of the state assembly, with rural members marshalling enough support to defeat a bill by Assemblyman Mark Catlin Jr., of Appleton, which would have allowed cities to increase their representation on county boards without the necessity of increasing the size of their city councils. The bill was killed by a vote of 46 to 39, but Assemblyman Catlin will attempt a reconsideration later this week, in the hope that some of the members absent during the roll call yesterday will swing the balance in his favor.

Catlin was aided in his fight for passage of the measure, supported by Mayor John Goodland Jr. of Appleton, and the Appleton Chamber of Commerce, by representatives of other Wisconsin cities which, like Appleton, lack representation on their county boards on the basis of population.

Didn't Seek Change

Catlin in his argument for the bill maintained that he did not propose to change the existing law covering the election of county supervisors, but merely intended to change its application to make it more convenient for cities to obtain the number of county board representatives to which their population entitles them. Under the present system, the author asserted, Appleton, to get the desired increase in the number of its supervisors, must increase the number of its wards, which would also increase the size of the Appleton city council beyond reason. His proposal, Catlin said, merely allows cities to elect supervisors from units smaller than wards, or precincts, enabling Appleton to increase the number of its county board representatives from six to 16.

During the debate assistance came from Assemblyman Francis Yindra of Manitowoc county, Maurice Fitzsimmons of Fond du Lac, and Joseph Theisen of Sheboygan. These cities, the assemblymen said, would solve long standing problems through the enactment of the Catlin bill. That the bill would promote harmonious relationships on county boards was the contention of Mr. Fitzsimmons, who said that the inequalities in representation of city and county districts at present are a constant source of friction in county government throughout the state.

Questioned Bill

Former Speaker Charles Perry of Milwaukee questioned the bill because it would, he said, force the counties to pay for an advantage to the cities. With an increase in the number of supervisors, whose salaries are paid from the county treasury, county costs would rise to the benefit of cities, Perry said. Assemblyman E. D. Hall, who led the fight against the bill, opined that if it is reasonable to force the counties to pay the expense of an increase in county boards, and if it is sound policy to increase the size of the boards, then also it is reasonable and good policy to increase the size of city councils and the expense of city government.

Assemblyman Hall made the motion for rejection of the bill. The roll call follows:

For killing: Schilling, Swanson, Sweeney, Trego, Van Guilder, Vaughan, Woerth, Alfonsi, McIntyre, Millar, Nehs, Perry, Pritchard, Rakow, Ryan, Hoesly, Howard, Yackson, Kelly, Kennedy, Kostuck, Kremer, Laack, Lingelbach, Lomsdahl, McDowell, Franzkowiak, Fritz, Genzmer, E. The management and other union officials also refused to announce provisions of the settlement. It was indicated the details would be made public today.

Public Will Get Bill for Raise In Steel Wages

Increase to be Reflected Soon in Higher Costs Of Construction

BY DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington—When the public gets the bill for what has happened in the last 48 hours in the steel industry, it will realize the true meaning of the addition of $200,000,000 to the annual cost of producing steel.

Lawrence

This huge sum—the biggest increase in labor costs ever attempted in any 12-month period—will be reflected soon in increased prices of construction. Steel and its by-products are so universaly used that the average person isn't aware of how farreaching is the effect of a 28 per cent increase in labor charges in the steel industry. Steel is used in automobiles, in making cars and rails for railroads, in house and office building construction, in food containers, in manufacturing plants of various kinds, including the electric power and light industry.

But, ironically enough, with all the clamor about keeping America out of war and controlling war profits, it is the threat of war in Europe on which the workingmen in America are cashing in today. The price and tonnage of production are being forced upward in steel because of an extraordinary demand throughout the world for metals. The truth is foreign nations have been depleting our supply of scrap iron, which, in turn, pushes up the price of steel. Likewise, the American navy is in the armament race of the world and is buying steel for battleships.

Ready for Strike

Under such circumstances, the John L. Lewis unions were ready to bring about a strike in the steel industry. Behind the scenes, an unprecedented battle was carried on. The true story will probably never be told publicly by the principals and must be pieced together from various sources.

First of all, the various members of the steel industry had an understanding that they would work together on labor problems through the American Iron and Steel institute. Last July, a public statement of labor policy was made.

Second, the so-called independent companies initiated the wage increase and 40-hour week and were under the impression that the United States Steel corporation was not yet ready to agree.

Separate Negotiation

Third, the United States Steel corporation carried on separately a negotiation with John L. Lewis, and when the independent companies were about to announce their wage increases and 40-hour week as the result of negotiation with their own employee representation groups, the U. S. Steel corporation asked that action be deferred until John Lewis could get into the picture.

Fourth, as soon as the independent companies announced their wage increase, U. S. Steel suddenly permitted a subsidiary company to make an agreement with the John Lewis union—A step that is regarded by the independents as by no means a friendly gesture to them, but as a step calculated to endeavor to force them to desert the employee representation groups.

There is much talk, therefore, among the independent steel companies of refusing to "sell out their own men" and some criticism of the U. S. Steel corporation's course as dictated by expediency, especially since it is contended that only a minority of the corporation's employes were identified with the C. I. O. of Mr. Lewis's creation.

The U. S. Steel corporation has about 35 per cent of the tonnage production and the independents together have the remaining 65 per cent.

Federation Out

From the wording of the agreement reached between the steel corporation and the C. I. O., it is being inferred that the bargaining of the future will be with the C. I. O. or the employee representation groups and that the American Federation of Labor groups will find themselves on the outside.

But the agreement does represent an advance as well as a retreat for John L. Lewis. No longer is there an insistence by him on exclusive bargaining privileges. Likewise, the C. I. O. has agreed to a clause forbidding it to coerce and intimidate in order to get members, just as the employers agree not to attempt to interfere with unionization. As a matter of fact, if the Wagner Labor Relations act were amended to use the exact language of the agreement reached between the C. I. O. and the U. S. Steel corporation, it would be hailed as a much better statute on all sides. Indeed labor refused to permit congress to include such a clause when the employer groups petitioned for such an amendment.

Unquestionably, Mr. Lewis was willing to make some concessions so as to get his foot inside the door in the steel industry. To be able to split the steel industry and line up the U. S. Steel corporation on his side, as against all the independents, was no small accomplishment. It could not have been done without the active aid of President Roosevelt behind the scenes. The president is showing himself much more anxious to cooperate with Mr. Lewis since the latter issued an ultimatum to the White House reminding Mr. Roosevelt of the big campaign contributions made by the C. I. O.

Government Present

Coincident with the reports of criticism made of the U. S. Steel corporation for breaking with the other members of the steel industry comes a revelation of the active pressure exerted by the government, especially through the Walsh-Healey act. It has been rumored for some time that Mr. Roosevelt threatened to go on the radio and denounce all the steel companies for refusing to bid on battleship steel due to their refusal to put in a 40-hour week as required by the Walsh-Healey law for any government contracts.

In Germany, as in Italy, when centralized government began to use the weapons of executive pressure, big business and particularly steel capitulated as the only expedient course to follow. Fascism itself, to be sure, was accepted by big business abroad as a welcome alternative to "sit-down" strikes and communistic disturbances.

Wanted to Avoid Fight

America has had only a few experiences as yet with the "sit-down" strike, but the costly interruption in the motor industry had its effect on the U. S. Steel corporation and it was deemed better to make an agreement with Mr. Lewis and trust to President Roosevelt to deal with the C. I. O. unions in future controversies rather than to have a battle on the bargaining issue at this time of great demand for steel.

All the steel companies have been having a hard time of it during the depression and in 1935 they earned only $52,000,000, whereas in 1936 they pushed their earnings up to $150,000,000, which is not a very high rate of return on a $3,500,000,000 net worth of capital for the whole industry.

Consumers to Pay

When it is considered that the wage increases last autumn and the new increases just granted will require $200,000,000 a year and that the whole industry made profits of only $150,000,000 last year, it is apparent who is going to have to pay the bill—the consumers of steel. Instead of an economy of lower prices through greater efficiency, thus increasing the real wages of the workingman by adding to his ability to purchase more things with his pay envelope, the economics of higher prices and a higher cost of living is being compelled by the Roosevelt administration.

Under such circumstances, the impetus to a general inflation has been strengthened by the events of the last 48 hours, which is one reason why the stock market is soaring and why workmen will be persuaded by union leaders to ask for more increases in money wages.

As living costs go up, indeed as prices rise, the administration may find itself face to face with the fact that real wages are going down and that money wages cannot be increased fast enough to take care of the living costs of the average family. That's what the politically managed settlement and new expenses forced on the entire steel industry may mean in the long run.

Rep. Schneider Praises Federal Electric Program

Utilities in This Section of State Now Showing Interest, He Says

Post-Crescent Washington Bureau

Washington— The movement to bring electricity to farms in northeastern Wisconsin has been given a decided impetus by the rural electrification program, according to Rep. George J. Schneider of Appleton.

Utility corporations are now showing unusual interest, he declared, in extending power lines to areas heretofore unelectrified.

"The rural electrification program was passed by Congress because private utility corporations had failed to provide electric energy to farmers at reasonable rates," Schneider explained.

"In most instances utilities had taken only the cream of the rural territory. The exorbitant charges for extensions of lines had made it impossible for farmers in the less congested areas to have the advantages of electric service."

But since the farmers have organized cooperatives to provide themselves with electric energy, he pointed out, the utility corporations are getting busy.

"They have been forced to reduce the charges for rural electric service," he declared. "Before the cooperative was organized, they showed no interest and fixed their charges at such a high figure that farmers were virtually prohibited from obtaining the benefits of electric service."

"Advised by my singing coach, I changed to Luckies"

"In my new picture 'Swing High, Swing Low' I sing a song for the first time since I have been on the screen. To do this, I spent months taking singing lessons. And with this added strain, my throat was not in good shape. My singing coach suggested that when choosing cigarettes, I select a light smoke. And so I changed to Luckies. Since then I've found that a light smoke and my throat get along together just fine."

An independent survey was made recently among professional men and women—lawyers, doctors, lecturers, scientists, etc. Of those who said they smoke cigarettes, more than 87% stated they personally prefer a light smoke.

Miss Lombard verifies the wisdom of this preference, and so do other leading artists of the radio, stage, screen and opera. Their voices are their fortunes. That's why so many of them smoke Luckies. Wage Concessions Speed Drives in Other Industries

Labor Leaders See Rivalry Growing in Union Factions

Situation in Brief

Washington — American Federation of Labor reiterates opposition to John L. Lewis' committee for industrial organization; C. I. O. moves to unionize all steel, automotive, oil and textile workers.

Pittsburgh—More steel firms hike wages and cut hours; Carnegie-Illinois Steel Corp. announces it will continue to deal with all employe groups despite recognition of C. I. O.

Cleveland— The Cleveland Federation of Labor suspends five member unions affiliated with C. I. O.

Providence, R. I.—Drivers beaten and trucks burned in blockade by striking Rhode Island truck drivers.

Detroit — Settle Murray Corp. strike affecting 6,500; strike closes Briggs Mfg. Co. factory; United Automobile Workers union, a C. I. O. unit demands recognition from Chrysler Motor Corp.

Sarnia, Ont. — Sixty-six persons jailed after clash between unionists and non-union workmen at Holmes foundry; many injured, some seriously.

(By the Associated Press)

Spurred by hour and wage concessions in the steel, leather and automotive fields for new unionization thrusts in oil, textiles and other industries, labor leaders today saw fresh threats of union rivalry developing.

Possibilities of dissention, already marked between the John L. Lewis committee of industrial organization and the older craft unions under domination of William Green, widened with announcement that the Carnegie-Illinois Steel employe representation plan contemplated formation of an independent union.

Following steel management's statement that its negotiations with the C. I. O. did not recognize that group as the sole bargaining agency, Alfred P. Sloan, Jr., president of the General Motors corporation announced its position was similar. It emphasized recognition of the C. I. O. as bargaining agent only for those employes who were members of the United Automobile Workers' union.

La Crosse Strike Ends

Agreements paved the way for prompt return to work in several strike sectors. Among them were 1,200 rubber workers at LaCrosse, Wis., 15,000 auto body workers in two Detroit plants, several hundred power employes in Minneapolis, bindery workers in Chicago and foundry men in Sarnia, Ont.

New strikes started in three Detroit plants of the Bohn Aluminum Co., and in a subsidiary, the Michigan Smelting and Refining Co., affecting 1,200 persons. In Akron, Ohio, the Firestone Tire and Rubber Co. plant No. 1 closed down, forcing idleness upon 8,000 employes.

Upwards of 40,000 workers were idle in disputes affecting a half hundred business and industrial firms.

While strikers and employers sought compromises, leaders of the committee for industrial organization viewed with satisfaction its contract with the Carnegie-Illinois Steel Corp. and mapped plans for the eventual unionization of all industrial workers in the nation.

Breach Remains

Carnegie-Illinois Corp. announced it would continue to deal with all employes groups despite its recognition of the C. I. O. as the bargaining agency for members of that organization.

C. I. O. gains did not heal its breech with the American Federation of Labor. President William Green said the federation will not tolerate extension of support to a dual and rival organization. The Cleveland Federation of Labor suspended all five member unions affiliated with the C. I. O.

Several additional steel firms announced higher wages. Among them were the Laclede Steel Co., employing 1,400 in factories at Alton and Madison, Ill.; Sheffield Steel Corp., employing 2,500 at Kansas City; American Steel and Wire, 325 at Anderson, Ind.; Colorado Fuel and Iron, 7,000 at Pueblo, Colo.

A sit-down strike of 5,000 night shift workers halted operations at a Detroit plant of the Briggs Corp., builders of automobile bodies. A union official said the strike was in protest against a speedup of the assembly line "beyond human endurance."

Two drivers were beaten and two trucks were burned in a blockade by 2,000 striking Rhode Island truck drivers, who struck for a closed shop, 48-hour week and wage increases.

Police and 250 strikers and sympathizers fought a tear gas and rock battle near the strike-bound Perennial Dye Works at West Harwick, R. I.

At Sarnia, Ont., 66 persons were jailed after hand-to-hand fighting between 300 non-union workmen and a group of sit-down strikers at the Holmes foundry. The latter were driven out. Eight persons were seriously hurt.

A strike was threatened at the Mid-Continent Oil corporation at Seminole, Okla., employing 1,300.

Two thousand workers were idle in a strike at the No. 2 Akron, Ohio, plant of the Firestone Tire and Rubber Co. Thirteen mills were closed and 500 workers were idle in the Berks county, Pennsylvania, hosiery strike.

Other Strikes

A sit-down strike of 500 men and women in the box shop closed the Monroe, Mich., plant of River Raisin Paper Co., employing 1,250. Two hundred workers, most of them women, sat down in the Aladdin Industries plant at Alexandria, Ind., to force discharge of a woman supervisor.

Strikers ended a sit-down at the Ferro Stamping Co., Detroit, but 400 others remained in the Timken-Detroit Axle Co. plant in the same city. A sit-down strike of 1,500 men ended at the Murray Corporation of America plant at Detroit under an agreement for union recognition, a 40-hour week and a conference on wages.

At Torrington, Conn., a spokesman for six manufacturing firms said the 40 hour week and time and a half for overtime will become effective next Monday. It affects about 4,700 workers.

ACT ON PENSIONS

Hearings on applications for aid for dependent children were conducted by the county pension committee at the courthouse Wednesday. Two new applications were approved.

Profits in 1936 Top Since 1929

30 Per Cent Gain Over 1935 but Still 40 Per Cent Under 1929

New York—(AP)—American industry made a long stride in 1936 toward prosperity of thumping proportions, analysts agreed today as they studied data indicating net profits exceeded $7,000,000,000 to rank it as the best year since the 1929 peak.

The tentative estimate, which would indicate a 30 per cent advance from 1935, although 40 per cent under the $11,654,000,000 earned in 1929 was based on statements from 1,000 corporations and experience with reports of previous years.

Reports already available indicate a 50 per cent hike in net profits over 1935 but statisticians, in placing total net profits at $7,000,000,000 or possibly more, pointed out that wider gains usually are shown in the earlier reports in a period of recovery.

The 1930 net was $6,429,000,000.

Some analysis saw in the vastly improved condition of American industry a partial explanation for the readiness with which huge corporations in the motor, steel and other industries, have jacked up wages in response to labor demands for a larger share in the fruits of recovery.

Many large companies have still to report and the complete tabulation of earnings of 500,000 odd concerns which file income tax returns will not be available for two years.

The push toward former peaks has been led by heavy industry recently. Many important groups employing millions of workers, are estimated to have had the best year since 1929. These included automobile and auto parts manufacturers, machinery makers, chemicals, oils, non-ferrous metals and others.

FACULTY TO MEET

Teaching plans will be considered by the WPA educational program faculty members at 10 o'clock Friday morning at the office of A. G. Meating, director. Programs which would be feasible if the adult education program was continued after WPA drops the work will be discussed.

Workers in Two City Departments Given Increases and night watchman $85, truck drivers 50 cents per hour, foremen and masons 52½ cents per hour, common laborers 45 cents per hour, sweepers 40 cents per hour.

Despite recommendation of the street and bridge committee that the sweepers be advanced from 35 to 37 cents per hour, the council voted to set their wages at 40 cents. Aldermen DeLand and Thompson were opposed.

Four employes of the relief department were given advances of $5 per month and two $10 per month. The scale ranges from $70 to $90 per month, and the $10 advancement affects two employes in the lower brackets.

Mayor Goodland said it might be advisable to send a committee to Washington in an effort to persuade PWA officials to include all the cost of the land on which the sewage disposal plant is located in determining the amount of federal grant. He said that an effort is being made to settle the matter by correspondence and he believes that if letter-writing doesn't bring desired results that it would be advisable to send a committee to the capital. The council voted to send a committee if this becomes necessary.

Delay Final Action

A proposed amendment to the zoning ordinance regarding setback lines of corner lots on Wisconsin avenue was referred back to the judiciary committee to have the meaning of front lots clarified.

The alderman apparently weren't clear in their minds as to which side of a corner lot is the "front" and argued for quite a time. Alderman Thompson said the matter of zoning was becoming more complicated all the time and argued that a mistake was made when Wisconsin avenue property was designed as local business district instead of commercial and light manufacturing.

A proposed rebate to the Riverside Cemetery association of $269 for an oiling assessment on Nawada street was referred back to the rebate committee for further study.

Two Aldermen Opposed

Alderman Brautigam and Knuiji opposed rebating the entire amount but indicated they would approve about half the sum. They argued that the association owned the land on both sides of the section of the street oiled and should pay.

Alderman Thompson felt the city made a mistake in oiling that section of the street pointing out that it only is used as an approach to St. Joseph cemetery and sometimes as an exit from Riverside cemetery.

Plans for the proposed WPA curb and gutter project for streets adjacent to various schools and public buildings were approved. Cost of the entire propect was estimated at $13,531 and the city's share, $3,536.

Hear Petition

A petition signed by about 25 local building contractors to amend a city ordinance to permit them to park their cars an unlimited time on streets where they are doing construction work was referred to the ordinance committee.

The city will lease the space in the old post office building occupied by the WPA and surplus commodities department to the federal government for $1 per year. This was voted at the request of the government to prevent any dispute concerning rental at a later date. The city is at present allowing use of the space without charge.

Gravel assessments were reduced from 75 to 45 cents to bring them in line with the actual cost as a result of WPA aid. An application for a taxi cab license of the Kunitz Livery was referred to the police and licenses committee and city attorney.

Please Drive Carefully

Approve WPA Project For Improving Streets

District WPA officials at Green Bay have approved a project for resurfacing College avenue from Drew to Story street and Washington street from Oneida to Superior street, according to word received this morning by City Engineer Lloyd M. Schindler. The project also includes installation of new curb and gutter.

Cost of the project is estimated at $77,762 of which the city will pay $36,120. The city must provide labor not available from the city relief list, the notice read.

Engineering Society Opens 2-Day Conclave

Madison—(AP)—City planning, electrical engineering and modern transportation were the principal subjects listed for discussion as members of the Engineering society of Wisconsin met at the University of Wisconsin today for a two-day annual convention.

Registration clerks estimated more than 200 municipal and industrial engineers would attend. Prof. and Mrs. Jean Piccard, stratosphere balloonists, will lecture on "Our Stratosphere Flight" at a banquet session tonight.

Tomorrow's sessions will be devoted to problems encountered in mapping and surveying, sanitary engineering, and materials architecture and structure sections.

May Clear Books of 'Dead' Accounts, Ruling

Madison—(AP)—Attorney General Orland S. Loomis ruled today that banks may clear their books of "dead" accounts which they know will be unclaimed by turning them over to the state treasurer without legal proceedings.

A recent law provides that deposits inactive for 20 years accrue to the state.

It is unnecessary for the banks to wait the full 20 years where they are certain no claimant will appear, Loomis held.

The secretary of state estimated that a number of accounts, ranging from $25 to $100 will be affected.

PINKS, REDS AND LIBERALS

Ludwig Lewisohn, who has gathered a reputation as a "liberal writer," is drawing attacks in Wisconsin and elsewhere chiefly because he insists that Socialists and Communists, the Pinks and the Reds, are not liberals at all.

The gods must laugh at times the way men tear their hair over the mere meaning of words but as language is the thing with which hopes and purposes are expressed and carried through it is sometimes important to have at least a fair understanding of the words employed.

Lewisohn takes no exception to the right of Pinks and Reds to preach their doctrine or to think as it has pleased heaven to endow them with the ability to think. He became angered at what amounts to misrepresentation upon their part, a sort of political fraud, the idea that they have a right to associate politically with those whose philosophy of government is wholly different from their own.

The Pinks and the Reds love one word in argument above all others. That word they hurl at adversaries as though, once emitted, their work is done. The word is reactionary.

Lewisohn demonstrated that the political philosophy of the Pinks and Reds is exactly the same philosophy as underlies all reactionary governments and that it is the very opposite of the structure upon which liberal governments are erected.

The Pinks and the Reds believe, or at least support, an all powerful state which crushes out the liberty of its subjects. On the face of things there is nothing to fear from such a philosophy in America. People will be too smart to put their heads in the noose. So the philosophy is launched upon the public through an extensive campaign of missiatement and downright fraud.

If the truth were stated, Lewisohn insists, the Pinks and the Reds in reality hark back to the ancient times of the Pharaohs in Egypt and the Caesars in Rome. They find this necessary in order to wipe out capitalism. They have nothing in common with the supporters of democracy and capitalism who are truly entitled to the term liberal if words are to mean anything accurate in our language.

Lewisohn spoke practically when he neglected to garland capitalism with flowers. It has its faults and many of them. But it is the lesser of the evils in sight in the world today, and so very much less in evil does it present in comparison to the reactionaryism of either Socialism or Fascism that there is little room for choice, and would be none, were the misrepresentation and fraud removed.

Mr. Lewisohn has performed a distinct service to the public that many other liberals ought to perform, and would perform, were they not looking for votes. But the Liberals will take the votes of the Pinks and the Reds, and when the latter become enraged, as they often do, and leave the fold, the conservatives tickle them under the chin awhile and they come over in their yard until, again, rage overcomes their actions and they continue to make their eternal circuit in the world.

WAGES, HOURS, PROFITS AND TAXES

The President, say the latest wires upon our desk, "came out flatly and emphatically for new wage and hour legislation at the present session of congress."

Mr. Roosevelt has been President for four years.

He ought to know by now the authority he has in respect to wage and hour legislation.

He might know, too, that we have had constitutional amendments put through in nine months.

Of course he can fritter away his time in useless wrangling and wrestling, making wild swings and big gestures of the wonderfully fine things he would do were it not that some marplot or vandal is always interfering.

But, we must not forget that as wages go up and hours of work go down, prices shoot skyward.

You simply cannot avoid it. Indeed, if you even try, you are sunk.

For despite sitdown strikes and other labor disturbances this nation is very much interested in General Motors, Telephone, DuPont, Steel, and all the other big fellows making many millions, else how will it get the money to pay interest on a debt that is going steadily upward, climbing the stairs every day, up, up and up?

A 5 TO 4 DECISION

We propose to make our readers tonight members of the supreme court of the United States and put before them the case of the Holyoke Water Power Company vs. the American Writing Paper Company.

Incidentally a decision involves the constitution of the United States, an act of the present administration, and its attitude in various national affairs.

Fortunately there was no dispute in the case as to what the facts were. The Writing Paper Company had leased from the Water Power Company some power rights in the Connecticut river. The leases were hoary with age, but their writing plain and undisputed.

The Power Company had a pretty clever lawyer when that lease was written who wanted to get away from any possible depreciation of money, so instead of stating that the paper company was to pay a certain amount for rental the lease required it to deliver in bullion a certain quantity of gold, and if that bullion was not delivered then to pay to the power company the value of that bullion in dollars at the time.

Of course when our dollar was debased 40 per cent it put the writing paper company sort of on the spot.

Nor was it a matter of little consequence to those involved. The decision made a difference to them over the period of a long lease of $400,000.

Supposing the contract required payment in bushels of wheat, hundredweights of cheese, tons of steers, what then?

Obviously the case almost involved a decision of the result when an "irresistible force rushes into an immovable body."

Here was a plain contract. And contracts are sacred. But here was also an act of congress debasing the dollar under a provision of the constitution which gave it that right. Which principle shall control when both seem applicable?

The constitution provides that congress may "coin money and regulate the value thereof" but it doesn't provide that one man may not make a contract to pay another in some other mode besides money.

Here, it seems to us, was another case where a majority of the supreme court stretched the constitution to the breaking point to make effective an act of congress. The court decided that the paper company need pay only in depreciated currency regardless of what its contract so plainly said.

We have had a great many contracts between parents and children whereby the children agree to provide the parents with certain quantities of food as a consideration for the transfer of their lands. The parents wanted to be sure of certain amounts. But shall the children now say —the price of bacon has gone up so why cannot we insist on paying in depreciated currency?

The case brought forth a 5 to 4 decision.

Is there any wonder? How would you decide it?

THE CHILD LABOR AMENDMENT

Last week the Texas senate rejected the child labor amendment to the federal constitution.

The claim was made that this amendment was a Yankee novelty of some kind. Patriotic Texans will have nothing to do with Yankee novelties.

Here again we see how congress ties itself up in a knot if you give it enough rope. It submitted this constitutional amendment to legislatures instead of the people. While it has this authority under the constitution it is an authority we hope will never again be used.

If this country actually belongs to the people in it they must keep their hand rigidly on the lever that controls the issue of "fundamental rights."

It is noteworthy that heavy obstructions to this amendment have been placed by other than industrial states. Great industries generally do not want to use children. They are too smart to build sweat shops.

Opinions Of Others

ARKANSAS, THE SOUTH, AND A FIVE TO FOUR DECISION

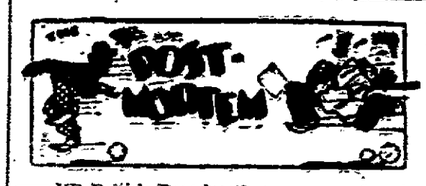

The sturdiest of liberals, Senator Norris of Nebraska, opposes Mr. Roosevelt's scheme for shuffling the supreme court in the interest of his legislative program, but Senator Norris would have congress provide that a law shall not be declared unconstitutional by a mere majority of the court.

When this proposal was advanced at Washington at a previous time when the supreme court was under discussion the Gazette reminded the public of a historic supreme court decision which was of special interest to Arkansas, but concerned the whole south.

In 1865 the south had no voice in congress. Vengeful men like Thaddeus Stevens dominated the affairs of the nation. The "test oath" act passed by congress practically barred every lawyer in the south from practice in federal courts. No lawyer could appear in federal courts unless he had taken the "iron-clad oath" that he had never had part in or assisted any movement against the United States.

Augustus H. Garland of Arkansas, who was destined to become attorney general in Grover Cleveland's cabinet, initiated a suit in which he contended that the "test oath" act was unconstitutional. His case was won by a five to four decision and the way was opened for southern lawyers to appear in United States courts.

That civil war proscription of lawyers of the south would not have been declared unconstitutional if the supreme court had been powerless to declare an act of congress void by what Senator Norris calls "a mere majority of the court."—Arkansas Gazette, Little Rock.

THE British Broadcasting company has taken steps to reduce the number of croons per dance music broadcast program to one croon per three numbers . . . this may all be very well, and may indicate that the B.B.C. has the listeners' interests at heart . . . at the same time, it illustrates the difference between the British and American method of doing things . . . it used to be here that every number had its crooner . . . perhaps a few bands are still guilty of this offense . . . but, because it was obviously palling on the public, there began a movement toward girl singers, and girl singers cannot generally be classified as crooners . . . then came swing and I personally defy anybody to croon swing . . . lah, da de dah—SKYDEHYDE HAY—lah, dah de dah . . . nope, it just can't be done . . . the American way is more exciting and, pleasantly enough, it leaves no rules to be interpreted . . . when is a crooner a straight singer and what of it, B.B.C.? . . .

DECISION

The sit down strike, which smells more like a fad than a principle, didn't start in Paris, or Hungary or Detroit, or Flint. It started in the movie houses, it did, right at the time the double-feature menace got going. People found that they could sit down in one place for hour upon hour and the training has so toughened them that a sit down strike is a cinch. Pretty soon they'll be yelling for double features in the factories so that they'll feel more at home. If the sit down epidemic continues to harrass our economic recovery, we can blame it on the theatre people for showing people how to take long sit downs without weakening.

A Verse for Today

By Anne Campbell

THE EMBROIDERY OF LIFE

Through the embroidery of life there runs
A slender hidden thread of purest gold.
It has survived a hundred blazing suns.
And it will last until the stars grow cold.

The manifold pursuits of busy days,
The peaks of happiness, the plains of strife.
The depths of sorrow—each hour brings a phase
That adds to the embroidery of life.

The bold design may scatter in the mists;
The stars may fade when morning skies are blue;
But through the changing pattern there persists
The ever-constant golden dream of you.

A group of Outagamie county sportsmen, believing in the preservation of fish, game and forests, met at the Conway hotel Wednesday evening and organized an Appleton chapter of the Izaak Walton League of America. They elected Richard Sykes temporary president; E. E. Cahail, temporary vice president; and Joseph Schultz, temporary secretary-treasurer.

Only one company in the U. S. army has existed continuously since the Revolutionary war. This is Battery "D," 5th United States Field Artillery.

Guns used by the early Revolutionary soldiers were so inaccurate and short in range that in 1776 Benjamin Franklin advocated the army be armed with bows and arrows instead.

In 1877 Congress forgot to pass a military appropriation bill, and the army, in order to carry on, had to purchase supplies on credit.

Personal Health Talks

BY WILLIAM BRADY M. D.
Noted Physician and Author

P. DS. PLEASE N. B.

Statistics indicate that diabetes, like cardio-vascular degeneration (heart-artery wearing out) is steadily increasing in frequency and as a cause of death. Still it is possible that the figures lie and the apparent increase in the proportion of the population having diabetes and the proportion of deaths due to diabetes is explained by more accurate diagnosis, and the greater proportion of people who have medical care nowadays. Certainly many individuals who had diabetes thirty, forty, fifty years ago never learned what ailed them. Just as certainly many who died directly or indirectly from diabetes were pronounced victims of something else by doctors who had never attended them except as a formality in the final illness.

In fact persons subject to diabetes are more likely to succumb finally to some complication, such as coronary occlusion, cerebral hemorrhage (apoplexy), gangrene, infection (septicemia, blood poisoning), than to diabetes itself. Before insulin, more than half the deaths from diabetes were due to diabetic coma; today only one out of twenty diabetics dies from coma.

Of what concern is this to the reader who hasn't diabetes and does not expect to have it? Well, an excellent authority (Joslin) conservatively estimates that 2,500,000 persons in the United States have or will have diabetes.

I'm no authority, but just from prowling around and having infinite leisure to ponder these questions I estimate that besides the true diabetics there are at least 10,000,000 more potential diabetics in circulation, and I hope this talk may interest a million or more of them.

Potential Diabetics (PDs) are distinguished from True Diabetics (TDs) by real authorities thus:

A true diabetic has 0.15 per cent or more sugar in his blood fasting and 0.17 per cent or more after a meal, with sugar in urine plainly related to diet. A potential diabetic has sugar in the urine after a meal, especially a meal including a good deal of carbohydrate food (starch or sugar) but has less than 0.14 per cent of sugar in his blood fasting, and less than 0.17 per cent after a meal.

A normal person has between 0.08 and 0.11 per cent of sugar in his blood fasting and less than 0.18 per cent in the blood with none in urine after a full meal.

Many research authorities have observed that vitamin B favors the carbohydrates metabolism, and acts like insulin.

Most refined carbohydrates in the American dietary are robbed of their natural vitamin B in preparation.

To all TDs as well as PDs I commend a daily ration of vitamin B to supplement the deficient diet.

QUESTIONS AN DANSWERS

Hyperacidity

Wrote for monograph on hyperacidity, but received one on foods allowed and forbidden in ambulatory treatment of patients with stomach or duodenal ulcer. (E. S.)

Answer—And that goes for hyperacidity too.

Thirty and Six

I am thirty. What foods to eat, what exercises daily, how much should weigh—67½ inches tall. Also same for girl six years old. . . . Mrs. M. E. M.)

Answer—Quart of milk, several ounces plain wheat, whatever fresh fruit and fresh greens available, daily for each. Otherwise eat what you like. You should weigh around 140.

Shots

Advisable for one in flood district to take shots (three, seven days apart) for prevention of typhoid fever? . . . (E. J. N.)

Answer—By all means, yes. In fact any one who travels about or may possibly be exposed to typhoid or a human typhoid carrier (such as a peripatetic cook or food handler in a summer resort or a winter resort) should be immunized against typhoid—by three injections of typho-bacterin or "typhoid vaccine" at intervals of a week. Requires several weeks for the immunity to develop—so don't put it off too long.

Your Birthday

"PISCES"

If March 5 is your birthday, the best hours for you on this date are from 10 a. m. to 12 noon, from 2 to 4 p. m. and from 8 to 10 p. m. The danger periods are from 8 to 10 a. m., from 6 to 8 p. m. and from 10 p. m. to midnight.

You must be practical this day, as well as reasonable, because if you are neither, life is apt to become very complicated for you. Someone probably will do something for you that will not only arouse your enthusiasm, but gratitude as well. Equivocation will only cause anyone resorting to it, to become entangled in a confusion of thought, as well as an argument, so say whatever you have to in a straightforward fashion. Personal behavior will play an important part in this day's business, as well as social affairs. You ought to feel full of vitality this day. A superabundance of energy is likely to prevail. You may be pleasantly surprised at the thoughtfulness of some relative or friend. General conditions ought to be very favorable for your personal interests, especially if economic problems have been troubling you. Married and engaged couples, as well as those whose courtships are progressing favorably, must be careful that irritation does not cause them to say or do something this day that will not only be tactless, but also unkind.

If a woman and March 5 is your birthday, you are probably a very emphatic type of person, accustomed to giving orders, but resent receiving of them. You are, most likely quick at gasping things, with a marked ability in copying anything you have once seen. You may have strong likes and dislikes. Books, art and music probably fascinate you. The chances are you are quick to resent injustice, with the result you may be frequently fighting the battles of those you consider as being treated unfairly. You ought to be a fine promoter, especially of charitable affairs. As a political leader, missionary, lecturer, purchasing agent, librarian or social welfare worker your renown may pass beyond local bounds.

The child born on March 5, probably when it arrives at its teens, will astonish its relatives and friends by a sudden burst of intellectual growth. This youngster may eventually become quite a celebrity.

If a man and March 5 is your natal day, your popularity will be your greatest aid to success. You must be constantly on the alert so that others cannot take advantage of opportunities that are likely to be first presented to you. As a composer, musician, author, clergyman or traveler fame might come to you in some unusual manner.

Successful People Born on March 5:

Theodore T. Munger, clergyman and author.
Isaac I. Hayes, Arctic explorer.
Frederick S. Coxzens, humorist.
Willis Baylord Clark, poet.

Howard Pyle, artist.

A Bystander In Washington

BY PRESTON GROVER

Washington — Abraham Lincoln has lost his place over the Roosevelt cabinet. Thomas Jefferson has the job.

Why the change was made just at this time could not be immediately learned, but Lincoln's picture, after hanging for years as the only portrait in the cabinet room, was replaced by Jefferson's a few days back. (By the way, this is a scoop.)

We made the discovery while prowling about the executive wing of the White House. Prowling is perhaps not the word. Nobody moves about that building without having a secret service eye on his shoulder blades. Call it a scouting trip.

The place is compact, handy for the President, and safe. The President's office overlooks the wide, hedged in White House Grounds and is shielded from the nearest street by a high rise of ground.

* * *

Two Races of Men

The President can pass between his office and the White House proper either within the building or along a runway sheltered overhead but open to the sunny south grounds. Mostly he takes the open way.

The executive offices are not pretentious. Any metropolitan law firm would have better. The Supreme Court offices shade it a mile. All the offices lead off from a large center room.

Comfortable black-leather couches and chairs are arranged along the walls, occupied for the most part by secret service men and news reporters. The former hope nothing will happen. The latter yearn for plenty to happen, in a sane way, of course, to break the monotony of "no news."

Visitors, except those the President shuffles out a side door to escape detection, must pass through the center room going and coming, to run the gantlet of reporters. It is a polite sort a business, mostly chat, with an occasional story for the half dozen news men who spend their whole time there. Tuesdays and Fridays bring press conferences and a hundred or more reporters.

Free Tour

Immediately on the right, on entering the executive wing, is the press room. Farther along on the right is Assistant Secretary Jimmy Roosevelt's office. Opposite it, on the left, is that of Steve Early, assistant secretary and a principal source of routine White House news.

In the far left corner is Assistant Secretary Marvin H. McIntyre's office, which connects directly with the President's. Off to the left is an aimless sort of room, sheltering the mounted tarpon caught by the President and a cluster of WPA paintings not very exciting. Nobody uses it except visiting delegations from somewhere or other who gather there to get a marching order before moving in on the President.

Other offices to the right and rear—along the street side—are occupied by office and stenographic help. The White House stenographers lean to the pretty side, exceptions noted.

You will be taken on tours to other capital hot spots from time to time, in this sort of way. No charge.

Consider the Yam— It's Gasoline, Feed

Savannah, Ga. — (AP) — Experiments by Dr. Charles Herty, noted scientists, reflect new importance for the sweet potato in the economic scheme.

He exhibits samples of motor fuel and stock feed derived from the tubers in initial experiments.

Using a carload of potatoes in carrying out a test run, Dr. Herty says he learned sweet potatoes readily adapt themselves by mulching into a mash easily handled for fermentation. To this, he said, was added fermentation products and alcohol was poured off. The residue tested 29.5 per cent and the scientists said it was found excellent for stock feed.

A 10 per cent mixture of alcohol may be sed in automobiles without carburetor modification, according to Dr. Herty.

Same Customer Opens, Closes Barber Shop

Corning, N. Y. —(AP)— Clark H. Newcomb's career as a barber shop proprietor ended just as it began 36 years ago, with Edmund L. Dininny in the chair.

Dininny was Newcomb's first customer when, on an April day in 1900, the latter hopefully opened the doors of his own shop.

A few night ago, by prearrangement, Dininny waited until all the other patrons had left and eased himself into Newcomb's barber chair to be the last customer.

When Dininny left, Newcomb announced he had stopped barbering to devote his time henceforth to conducting a pet shop.

WOULD REMEMBER ALAMO

Washington —(AP)— Representatives Maverick, Texas Democrat, has introduced a bill in congress authorizing the coinage of a special issue of .50-cent pieces commemorating the fall of the Alamo. The coins, of which 20,000 would be minted, would be issued and sold through the Alamo mission chapter of the Daughters of the Republic of Texas.

DYNAMITE CRIME WAVE

Helsinki Finland —(AP)— An increasing number of burglaries, with dynamite being used extensively to wreck safes, has become a matter of public concern in this usually quiet northern capital. Police have not been able to break up what appears to be an organized gang of safebreakers.

Property damage loss in this country in 1936 due to fire was approximately $293,000,000, a 13 per cent increase over the 1935 figure.

Hollywood News And Gossip

By Robbin Coon

Hollywood — In a couple of weeks the romantic spotlight will flash on young Tyrone Power's face and probably find it very red. . . .

That is when Sonja Henie is due to return from the east, and when Tyrone will have some explaining to do—in person, and face to face. . . . Already, over long distance telephone when Sonja called, Tyrone has blamed on the publicity department at romantic rumors linking him with Loretta Young. . . But he has kept on escorting Loretta . . . well, at least once since Sonja called. . . .

Marries on Impulse

Mary Astor said her decision to marry Manuel del Campo in a Yuma elopement (instead of waiting) was just "impulsive." . . . Her return to Hollywood bore her out. . . . Stepping from the chartered airplane to deny she was married, she found her handbag contained neither nickel nor lipstick. She borrowed lipstick from a newspaper girl, and also a nickel for coffee.

A movie actress occasionally may find herself without coffee coin, but when she is traveling sans lipstick you may be sure she didn't intend to travel far. . . . What happened was that she went down to the airport to see del Campo off . . . and obeyed that impulse. . . .

No Smoking

Those two dressing rooms that couldn't be closer together on the set of "This Is My Affair" belong to the co-stars, Taylor and Stanwyck. . . . Ann Harding's former dressing rooms on the RKO lot now are occupied by the studio legal department. . . . The "No Smoking" signs on sound stages still mean it. . . . Those butts you see lying around are just reminders. . . .

Alice Faye and Simone Simon, who hadn't met each other until the other evening, have become chums. . . . It started at the Trocadero, when Simone was sitting at a table near the dance floor and pouting as usual, and Alice danced by and threw her a flip comment . . . Simone thought it over, then went to Alice's table and struck up a gabfest. . . . And Alice's remark? Just this: "You'd better pull in that lip or it'll fall off. . . ."

Jim Farley Fishes With Aid of Late Huey Long

BY WESTBROOK PEGLER

New York—A little story from Miami Beach reports that Jim Farley, down there for a vacation, went fishing the other day with Seymour Weiss, of New Orleans, described as a hotel man, which he is, but more famous as the cashier of Huey Long's political machine. Mr. Weiss was a very obstreperous enemy of the Roosevelt administration up to the time of Huey's death, and once, during a senatorial inquiry into the financial affairs of the Long outfit, he got up out of the witness chair and told General Ansell, who was needling him with questions, that he was of more than half a mind to take him outside and bust him one for luck. As a boxing spectacle that would have been one of the worst fights the world has ever known, and Mr. Farley, as an old prizefight commissioner, probably would have used his influence to get both boys barred for life. But the incident just goes to show what a rowdy sort of politician Mr. Weiss is, and to indicate the feeling between Seymour and the administration during the time that Huey was going on the air and sneering the name of Franklin Del-a-no Roosevelt. Huey had a special way of crowding all the ornery, personal spite of a political fued into the mere pronunciation of Mr. Big's name, and it took some audacity to do it at the time, because Mr. Roosevelt was riding high just then.

Pegler

Laughed off Indictment as Purely Political

Mr. Weiss was one of Huey's boys who were indicted for violation of the federal income tax law, and there was much talk about the purpose of the indictment. The boys in the administration said Mr. Weiss was a dead cock in the pit this time, because they had enough on him to give him the business, but on Huey's side, they said the administration didn't have a thing, and laughed off the indictment as purely political. This latter seemed very cynical, indeed, because after all, the federal courts are sacred, and it would be a shocking abuse of the judiciary to have the law on a man merely to punish him for getting out of line, and as an example to others around the country. If Mr. Weiss was guilty as charged, then he was no less guilty than Al Capone who got 11 years for the same thing, and, what's more, was sent to Alcatraz to do it the hard way. If Mr. Weiss was guilty then there were more sombre considerations behind the mere violation of the income tax law, because in that case he would have been a party to a system of corruption just as dangerous as Capone's politico-alky regime in Chicago.

Weiss Got Most of Huey's Political Effects

Well, then, as everybody knows, Huey was killed and in the scramble of the boys to loot the joint, Seymour got away with the real political effects leaving the Rev. Gerald Smith, the ecclesiastical carpetbagger, with nothing but an old brown suit which he represented as the mantle of Huey Long. Seymour let him keep the suit, and the reverend wore it to Cleveland for the memorable brother act with old Dr. Townsend and cash - and - carry Coughlin, who did a strip-ease, tearing off his coat, as a whole mass of feeble but hopeful old men and women sat there wondering what on earth.

Well, all I know is what I see in the papers, as Will Rogers used to say, and after a decent period of mourning for Huey I saw where the department of justice had dropped the indictment against Seymour owing to a change in atmosphere. The D. J. didn't specify whether the atmosphere had changed for the better or for worse, but that wasn't necessary. Your nose knows.

Pupils Study Safety Methods in McKinley Kindergarten Class

Miniature green and red traffic lights flash on and off in McKinley Grade school kindergarten classes as pupils practice crossing streets and railroad tracks. College avenue and main intersecting streets have been diagrammed on the kindergarten floor as part of the safety study.

Before the project is completed, pupils will have studied the work of firemen, policemen, postmen and other community workers.

Shoveling imaginary coal into the fire box of the kindergarten model train also is occupying the pupils' attention at present. Before the train was built from blocks and barrels, pupils made a trip to the flats and were shown through an entire train.

Tickets have been printed and distributed to the pupils for use when taking long trips on the train. The crew consists of an engineer, brakeman, conductor and ticket agent. Pupils alternate in acting as these various officials.

Stop and go wig-wags have been built and a large sign near the track warns pupils to "Look Out For Cars." As part of the classwork in connection with the project, each pupil made large cut-out pictures of the train.

Bermuda and West Indies Trips Planned by Girls For Vacations at Easter

EASTER vacation plans of girls away at school are taking their place in the travel news this month, with Bermuda and the West Indies among the most popular destinations because they are not much farther away than home for many of the students in the east. Miss Betty Buchanan, who is a student at Vassar in Poughkeepsie, N. Y., will leave March 28 with some of her school friends on a 10-day cruise to Havana and Nassau. Her parents, Mr. and Mrs. G. E. Buchanan, 1005 E. College avenue, will spend Easter in California, as they are leaving Friday for Pasadena. They expect to be gone between six and eight weeks.

Another Vassar student, Miss Jeanne Sage, daughter of the Charles Sages of Neenah, will attend the spring festival at Swarthmore college, Swarthmore, Pa., the Easter weekend, but she has not yet made definite plans for the rest of her vacation. She may come home.

Make Reservations

Reservations for a trip to Bermuda have been made by the Misses Isabelle and Fredrika Whiting, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. F. B. Whiting of Neenah. Both girls are attending school in New York, the former studying singing and art at the Studio club, and the latter enrolled at Miss Finch's school. Mrs. Whiting, her mother, Mrs. M. Comstock and another daughter, Miss Frances Whiting, are in Florida, having left for the south on Feb. 20. They expect to return to Neenah about April 1. Mr. Whiting will leave tomorrow to join them.

The Misses Priscilla and Katherine Gilbert, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Gilbert, Neenah, will spend their Easter vacation at home. The girls are students at Miss Hall's school in Pittsfield, Mass., and are expected to arrive home March 19. Miss Mary Stuart, daughter of the Kimberly Stuarts of Neenah, a student at Dobbs school, Dobbs Ferry, N. Y., will also spend Easter at home. She will arrive March 25.

Going to Carolina

Another Neenah girl at Dobbs, Miss Polly Mahler, will go south at Easter time to spend her spring vacation with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ernst Mahler, Neenah, who have a cabin at Tryon, N. C., and usually spend part of the early spring there. Mrs. Mahler and her son, Peter, will leave for Carolina Sunday, and Mr. Mahler will join them there the latter part of the month. Mr. and Mrs. Jack Kimberly of Neenah left for Tryon last week.

Miss Bette Balliet, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Balliet, 2 Brokaw place, a student at the College of Mount St. Vincent in New York, has not yet made plans for her spring vacation, probably because her time has been so filled with other activities. Last weekend she and the Misses Frances and Elizabeth Barber of New York City went to West Point for the Saturday night hop, and also attended a polo game, swimming meet and tea dance there.

Etching Exhibit Being Shown at College Library

An exhibit of dry-points and etchings by John Gifford, New England artist, has been opened in the library at Lawrence college, and will remain throughout the month of March. The college has extended an invitation to all people in the community to visit it during the month.

The exhibit, which has completed a tour of important Midwestern points, consists of 51 examples of Mr. Gifford's work. Flowers and landscapes are Gifford's chief subjects, and there are striking etchings and dry-points in both fields. Delicately and finely detailed, the pictures represent the contemporary trend in the art of etching.

The exhibit comes to Lawrence college through the courtesy of the Swain School of Design, New Bedford, Mass., and has previously toured New England.

Myra Hess Bids for Most Popular Artist Honors as Series of Concerts Closes

LAST night's concert by Myra Hess in Memorial chapel concluded this season's artists' series concerts in laudatory fashion. If the enthusiasm of last night's audience is any measure, then Myra Hess proved most popular of all the artists appearing this year—on a program that included Lauritz Melchior, the Stradivarious string quartet, the Lawrence chair and Ernst Wolff.

Displaying a touch now light and swift, now bright and hard; now powerful, now melancholy, Miss Hess won her audience completely. From the classic simplicity of the Scarlatti sonatas to the stupendous Bach-Toccata, D. Major" was a large step which Miss Hess's playing took with greatest ease. Their proximity on the program heightened the contrast, with correspondingly heightened reflections on the versatility of Miss Hess's playing.

Similar contast was discernible in the proximity of Schuman's "Papillons" and a Brahms group of four Intermezzos and a Capriccio. A smug audience approves a lady's playing "Papillons"—butterflies are poetic enough for a woman to concern herself with. The delicacy and fragility of tone which Miss Hess created for these numbers was a feat in itself. From this she turned to the Brahms, who can be as ponderous and solid as a pachyderm, and still manage to be good music.

Interprets Brahm Well

Brahms' music is always a test of true musicianship, for, with the possible exception of a few lighter pieces, Brahms is always saying something, but it requires discernment to know what he is saying. He is an esoteric conversationalist, requiring the maximum warmth and understanding to interpret his talks with the gods. These Miss Hess gave her playing in liberal quantity. Just as, in the preceding number, she had created a mood poetic and delicate, in the Brahms with equal ease and mastery of her instruments she conveyed a full, well-rounded impression of music bristling with thought and profoundly vital.

Miss Hess built the Brahms to a powerful climax which fitted the whole evening's concert splendidly. In the Scarlatti and Schuman she demonstrated ably the light, simple, poetic power which is hers; in the Bach and Brahms she developed warm, rich tones which at times she sustained with pedal in remarkable fashion.

An enthpsiatic audience kept her at the piano for an additional quarter-hour. Even after this Miss Hess displayed that restraint which marks the best art. She had more to give, she could give more, but she did not. Her admirable work, however, left the audience with definite impressions of just how great her art is, and how individual it is too.

A Fitting Climax

Appleton has had no dearth of fine music this season, and it is not inappropriate to reflect, in passing, that Myra Hess gave fitting climax to a season which has produced several large-sized musical events. Her splendid playing, her versatility, and the authentic tone of her interpretations, all mark her as deserving of the highly flattering estimates which the country's foremost critics have given of her playing. Her art has a depth and freshness which place her high in the rank of professional pianists. Last night's audience sensed the fact, and rewarded her with a spontaneity as swift as it was generous. Myra Hess's concert will remain long in the memory of Appleton as an outstanding musical event.

Cashman Makes Another Attack On Farm Bureau

Nelson Also Joins in Criticism of State Department

(Post-Crescent Madison Bureau)

Madison—The state department of agriculture and markets, subject of much criticism from farmer members of the legislature during the last month or two, was attacked again by Senators Phil Nelson, (Rep.), Maple, and John E. Cashman (Prog.), Denmark, in a stormy senate session Wednesday.

Both senators let loose severe blasts of critical comment debate last week on an appropriation measure to pay the expenses of state dairy inspectors, working under the supervision of the department of agriculture and markets. At that time Senator Cashman among other things, charged that the department inspectors were worthless jobholders, and that most of them "don't know from which side a cow is milked."

Just before adjournment Monday Senator Nelson injected the department into the senate debate once more with a statement that he endorsed Senator Cashman's feeling.

Prices are Low

"Milk prices received by the farmers are as low now as they were at any time during the worst period of the depression" said Nelson, "and no one, including the department of agriculture and markets is doing anything about it." Nelson charged that the inefficiency of the department amounted to a waste of the $375,000 a year which is appropriated to support it.

Nelson's diatribe brought smiles to the face of Senator Cashman, who has been campaigning against the department for weeks. At the close of the Maple member's speech, Cashman declared that the inspectors employed the department of agriculture and markets do nothing except slander the state's dairy industry, to the detriment of out of state markets for the Wisconsin farmer's products. "We need some inspectors in the capitol to investigate the department itself," said Cashman.

When Senator Joseph Clancy, (Dem.), Racine, the LaFollette administration's bitterest and most consistent critic, arose to say that the department inspectors last fall worked as political agents for the governor, Senator Cashman replied: "I'm glad they were able to do something. They certainly haven't been acting as dairy inspectors."

Winnebagoland Club Plans Novel Contest

Oshkosh —(AP)— Crow will be bait when the Winnebagoland Booster club holds a novel sweepstakes here next summer.

The group decided at a meeting last night to pay cash prizes ranging to $100 in a contest Aug. 15. Several banded crows will be released as local sportsmen join in a rifle and shotgun hunt to eradicate the birds and expand their crow club into a national federation.

Carl Schloesser, promoter of the sweepstakes, said the hunt was being attempted because the black pests were exterminating wild game birds.

TAKE WEIGHT OFF TIRED FEET

Lose Fat The Easy Way—Without Starvation Diets, or Back-Breaking, Bending and Rolling Exercises.

If your feet and ankles feel tired and ache all over—because you are carrying too much fat—do something about it. Try the treatment that has helped millions to reduce excess weight.

There's a reason why so many people find dieting slow and often times futile in reducing. The reason, doctors say, is often because a little gland is not working right.

All the blood in your body goes through this tiny gland sixteen times every day. If it doesn't pour into the blood stream about one and one-half drops of vital fluid every 24 hours, many people take on ugly fat. This fluid helps Nature to "burn up" excess food and fatty tissue in much the same way as a good "draft" acts in a furnace.

Now, physicians combat this condition by feeding this gland the substance it lacks—and millions of pounds of excess fat has been wiped out in this way.

Marmola Prescription Tablets are based on the same method used by doctors. So don't waste your time or money striving to reduce with starvation diets or back-breaking exercises. Start the Marmola treatment today that millions have used successfully to get rid of excess fat. The formula is in every box so you know just what you are taking. Don't wait—get a box of Marmola today from your druggist.

Grand for tub washing, too—soaks clothes whiter, brighter

THE New 1937 Rinso is truly a blessing to the woman who does not own a washing machine. For with Rinso all you have to do—all any woman has to do—is to soak the week's wash in the richer, longer-lasting Rinso suds. The lively Rinso suds soak out the dirt often in as little as 10 minutes—and get clothes at least 5 shades whiter than ordinary soaps. Yet Rinso is safe even for overnight soaking. Rinso gets colors much brighter, too. And as for the dishes and all cleaning—well, the New Rinso is in a class by itself. It gets rid of grease quickly and completely. Rinso is recommended by the makers of 33 famous washers. Economical—a little goes a long way.

Culbertson Sympathetic With "Other" Disputant

(Copyright 1937, By Ely Culbertson)

Many letters addressed to me, asking my decision on disputed points, are couched in terms that strike a deep note of sympathy in me. Apparently the entire happiness of these correspondents depends on being told that they are right and the other disputant "all wet." Perhaps it is chicken-hearted of me, but I must confess that I much prefer to side with the writer than against him. He is a friend and the other fellow a perfect stranger. But I cannot allow this weakness in myself to lead to stultification. Hence, when I receive a letter such as the one that follows, I must harden my heart and speak the truth.

"Dear Mr. Culbertson:

"Below is a hand I held last night. It became a nightmare.

South, dealer.

Both sides vulnerable.

SOUTH

♣ A 4

The bidding:

South	West	North	East
1 heart	1 no trump	2 diamonds	3 clubs
Double	3 no trump	Pass	4 clubs
Double	Pass	Pass	Pass

"I sat West. My no trump bid was intended only to tell my partner that I had the rest of the hearts and, perhaps, to confuse the opponents into stopping short of game. When North overcalled with diamonds I thought he had nothing but that suit. I read my partner's three club bid as strength-showing. South's double was a surprise, but I thought it was based on trump length as my long hearts showed that he must have another suit in his hand. My three no trump was not made on the idea that I could make it, but just that we could go down less. One thousand four hundred points were the result, and my bids were blamed by the other players. Now for some questions:

"1. Didn't North deny the strength he had in bidding over my one no trump?

"2. Didn't my partner's bid show much strength he did not have?

"3. Wasn't South's double shaded?

"Please absolve me of some of the blame and restore my badly shattered confidence in my hand analysis.

"Yours very truly,

"J. D.

"Vicksburg, Miss."

I am sorry, J. D., but I can neither absolve you nor restore you. Your one no trump was horrible, judged on any basis whatsoever. Your three no trump was, if possible, worse. With virtually nothing but the opponents' suit it is so obviously the part of wisdom to keep quiet that there should be no need for whys and wherefores. As to direct answers to your questions, here they are:

1. North should have doubled one no trump rather than bid two diamonds, but it doesn't absolve you that you were further "fixed" by a bad bid of the opponents. The opponents are not supposed to be on your side.

2. Your partner's free bid was questionable, but not greatly to be censured. His freak distribution made the bid persuasive after you had shown about four honor tricks by your no trump bid.

3. South's double was, I think, shrewd. True, he was short in clubs, but with a free bid from his own partner he had reason to feel that three clubs could be defeated two or three tricks.

Summing up: Most of the bidding was a bit off color, but it was your own two bids that were sensationally bad. Sorry!

TODAY'S QUESTION

Strange Birds

IV—HORNBILLS

Among all queer birds, I think the hornbill is a rival for first place. Both males and females have large, bony "helmets" above their beaks. The helmets make them look queer, and the birds also have queer customs.

Hornbills live in warm parts of India and Africa. Most kinds are large, up to the size of a turkey. They can fly, but are slow and noisy about it, and spend most of their time on the ground, looking for something to eat. After picking something up, the hornbill's custom is to toss it in the air, then to catch it in the beak as it falls toward the ground.

A hornbill.

The food of hornbills is made up largely of berries, fruits and insects. Some kinds attack and kill snakes in order to eat them.

The purpose of the helmet above the bill is not clearly known, but it is believed to be helpful in at least one way. It guards the brain from the blow of an enemy. The beak and the helmet are so large we might suppose them to be very heavy, but this is not the case. They are composed of strong, but light, bone and have air spaces inside.

The strangest fact about hornbills is the custom of putting the females in "prison" during the nesting season. A hollow far up in a tree is chosen, and there the female goes, to lay from one to four eggs. While she is sitting on the eggs, the male goes on trips to get mud or clay. Bit by bit, he lays this down in such a way as to close the opening. At last a wall is raised, and only a small hole is left. The females cannot get out!

The small hole allows air to go in for the female to breathe, and it also gives the male space to use in passing food to her. She seems to be a willing prisoner. She gives warmth to the nest, and her mate scouts around for berries, insects and other tidbits for her.

The wall protects the female from enemies. Her chief foes are monkeys and tree-climbing lizards. Fairly safe from such attacks, she stays in her prison until the young have their feathers. Then both parents knock down the wall by striking with their beaks.

Hornbills do not know how to sing, but the male makes a special kind of noise. This noise has been called "half way between the bray of a donkey and the shriek of a railway engine." It is not pleasant to the ears of a human being but Mrs. Hornbill probably thinks it sounds just fine.

School Sickness Afflicts Many Failing Students

BY ANGELO PATRI

"What's the matter, Rosie? Don't you see what time it is?"

"I've got a headache. I don't want any breakfast."

"What gave you a headache?"

"O, I just feel sick all over. I can't go to school."

"Then you'd better go right up to bed. Yes, that's the best place for you if you're sick. No, the couch won't do. Go right to bed. Undress and go to bed right away."

Mother could not help thinking that this was a school sickness. There had been no sign of sickness up to this morning. There was no temperature, no pain, save for the headache, which did not seem to be very bad. "Something's the matter. I'll slip over to school this morning and see Miss Willing."

Miss Willing was pleased to see her visitor. "I was on the point of calling on you. Rosie needs a little reminding, I think. She has brought in no homework for a week, she skipped two periods of work in mathematics. She is more interested in the practice games just now than in her work. She is absent today, and that means more lessons lost."

A few minutes of conversation, a plan of work, a cordial agreement to help each other and Rosie, and mother went home to her patient. At noon she carried up a tray with a bowl of oatmeal gurel and milk on it. "Here is your lunch. Eat it. You need nourishment. Then go to sleep again."

"I guess I'll get up, mother. Nan will be coming in after school and I have to get my lessons for tomorrow and—"

"No. You will stay in bed and rest. Nobody will be in to see you. When you are too sick to go to school you are too sick to see people, or do any of the things you do when you are well and able. I'll send up your supper."

Rosie was perfectly well next day. Her mother told her about her visit to school and the arrangement about her lessons. "And next time you shirk your work and get a headache, just tell the whole story and be done with it. Then we can start again, just as we are doing now."

School sickness afflicts many a failing child. The failure may be his own fault, or it may be his affliction. Either way the child suffers under it and tries to find a way out without telling on himself. School sickness is his answer to the problem.

Investigate any such sickness promptly. Don't scold about it, but put the child to bed and take care of him. Then see the teacher. Prompt attention to school sickness has saved many a runaway, for running away is the next step after a fit of school sickness that failed to bring results.

It is not wise to send such a child to school. He is in trouble there and is likely to go somewhere else. Keep him at home, in bed, and investigate his school work. Once his difficulties are set right the sickness will vanish. Worry and fear make the failing child sick. The sickness is not "real," in that it is not organic, but it is actual and the child suffers. He does not need medicine. He needs help with his problems.

Mr. Patri will give personal attention to inquiries from parents and school teachers on the care and development of children. Write him in care of this paper, enclosing a three cent stamped, addressed envelope for reply.

Youth and Freshness Are Assets

BY ELSIE PIERCE

An acquaintance, living in England and here on a visit saw a young cousin of mine for the first time in ten years (the young cousin is now eighteen).

He said, "She is so fresh, like a dew-washed rose, with the kind of a complexion we expect young Englishwomen to have and she seems so full of vitality and aliveness."

That, to my mind, is just about the nicest compliment that any young girl can receive so far as good looks goes. Immaculate grooming, freshness, aliveness — these are the finest attributes of loveliness. Time enough to look suave, soignee, sophisticated and worldly when you are older. But you young girls in your teens, strive for the fresh, clean, alive look.

Shiny Hair: Clear Skin

Let's go from head to toe. Brush your hair some hundred strokes night and morning. Massage the scalp. Oil treatments are what you need if hair is dry or brittle, scalp dry and tight. Tonic rubs are good if your hair is oily. Fight dandruff as you would a plague, for it not only robs hair of its lustre, chokes the scalp pores, often causing hair to fall excessively, but in addition it may contribute to an acne skin condition. If you have dandruff brushing and oil treatments may help; a special dandruff ointment or tonic may help. Anyway, don't make it a habit to run your hands through your hair because there is too much chance of your touching your face immediately thereafter. If your scalp is healthy and your hair shiny you can chalk up one point in favor of your final good looks mark.

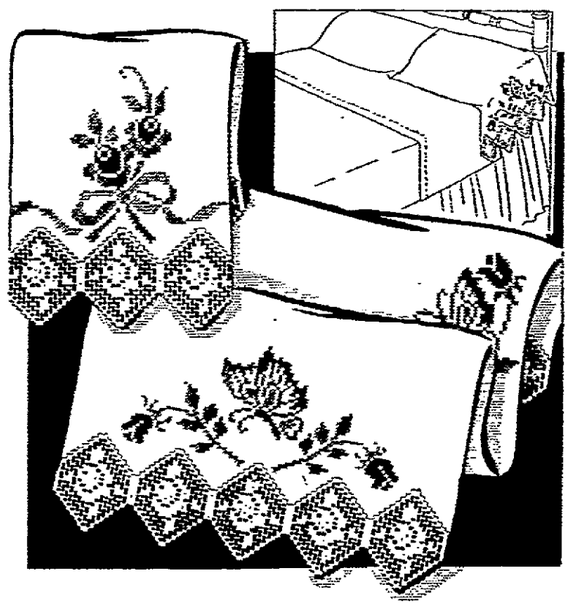

A clear skin is next on your list — though it is the young girl's greatest asset and should lead all others. Our grandmothers may have felt that an acne condition just had to be. It was part of adolescence, like having the measles as a baby. But both theories have since been debunked. We see too many lovely clear skins, too many girls in adolescence with flawless complexions for us to believe that acne has to be. Those of you who are troubled by blackheads, blemishes and acne, don't wait for "Nature to take its course." That is the old-fashioned, lazy, stupid way. There's no need to suffer all the humiliation in the meantime and no need to take the chance of resulting pits and scars after it has run its course. Treat the condition sanely, sensibly and scientifically.

From that point, it's attention to little details of good grooming that count in the beauty scheme. Conservative make-up, conservative colors, freshness, sparkling cleanliness, nothing loud or obtrusive — that's the essence of young beauty.

My bulletin "Young Girls' Beauty Rites" is yours for the asking. Send for it and enclose a self-addressed, stamped (3-cent) envelope. Address Miss Pierce in care of the Appleton Post-Crescent.

Being Man's Last Love Is What Really Counts

BY DOROTHY DIX

Dear Miss Dix—I am contemplating marrying a man whom I love dearly, but because of the fact that he is a widower I feel terribly let down. I suppose my trouble really is jealousy. I cannot bear to think that he ever loved another woman well enough to marry her. I know second marriages are a common occurrence, but somehow that knowledge doesn't reconcile me in the least. I also realize how foolish my outlook is, but the thought comes over me like a blanket of heavy fog. What shall I do?

W. F. E.

DOROTHY DIX

Answer:

Put your fears behind you and grab your man if you know a good thing when you see it. Widowers are a preferred risk in matrimony, which explains why there are so few of them. Wise women are laying in wait to kidnap them just as soon as they show signs of beginning to take notice after their wives' deaths.

If your only objection to your friend is that he has loved before, forget it. Be your age. No female over 16 is optimistic enough to expect to be a man's first love, or credulous enough to believe him if he tells her that he has never loved before. Every man has had innumerable loves and whether he married any one of them or didn't is a matter of no concern, provided the lady is out of the picture.

Who was a man's first love doesn't matter. The important thing is that you are his last love, and you are going out of your way to borrow trouble when you let a ghost stand between you and happiness. It is the live ladies who are your headache.

I think wives are nearly always jealous of their husbands' first wives and feel a certain animosity toward them, but if they could only realize it these first wives were their friends and benefactors, and they owe a lot to them.

In the first place, a woman who marries a widower owes a lot of her prosperity to her predecessor. Most men are poor when they marry the first time and their wives scrimp and pinch pennies and work helping them get their start and build up the fortune which they spend. Many a second wife rides in a limousine because the first wife walked to save carfare.

Then the second wife owes much of the kindness and consideration and tact which her husband displays to her to his first wife's training. She house-broke him. She taught him how to sidestep a woman's peculiarities instead of bumping into them, and not to snoop in the garbage can, nor criticize the cooking, nor tell how he manages his help. It was his first wife who inured him to the thought that it cost money to run a home, and a due and proper respect for women's nerves.

Marrying a widower is getting a husband who has had all the rough edges filed off his disposition and character and it saves the new wife about ten years of arduous labor. And if perchance a man's first wife has been high-tempered, peevish, fretful and a bad house-keeper, the second wife is simply sitting on the top of the world. If she is fairly decent to her husband he will grovel at her feet and burn incense before her.

Dear Miss Dix—To the puzzled father who asked you what he should do about a boy who has no pep I would advise putting a guy like that in the army or navy. They will take the kinks out of him. I was the same way until I enlisted in the army and they made a man out of me.

W. K.

DIVERS QUESTIONS ABOUT NAMES

Dear Mrs. Post: How should I announce myself over the telephone when I have occasion to call my doctor, or my son's school principal? Would the fact that I am older than either of these men have anything to do with your answer?

Answer: No matter what your ages, in business and professional situations you say, "This is Mrs. Blank." To the principal of your son's school it might be more enlightening if you said, "I am Mrs. Blank—John Blank's mother."

* * *

Dear Mrs. Post: How is an aunt supposed to sign her letters to nieces and nephews? They don't call her Mary and she is afraid they will think they may if she signs her letters "Mary."

Answer: Aunts, unless they are called something else, sign their letters, "Affectionately, Aunt Jane."

* * *

Dear Mrs. Post: A friend recently sent me a box of double fold cards for a present. These are little larger than my ordinary visiting card, with both my name and address engraved across the face. Will you please explain just when are the proper times to use such cards?

Answer: They are intended for longer invitations or other messages which would ordinarily be written on a single visiting card. Those whose handwriting is large find them especially convenient. The only thing against them is that they eliminate the time-saving abbreviation which is the principal advantage of writing on visiting cards instead of not paper.

* * *

Dear Mrs. Post: I am going to be a child's nurse. When the mother entertains in the living room and I am asked to bring the child to her, what am I supposed to do? Will the mother introduce me and am I supposed to prompt the child's manners when the mother is there?

Answer: You take the child to the entrance of the room and say, "Go to your mother." The child goes across the room to mother and you disappear.

* * *

Dear Mrs. Post: The stepmother of a friend is resenting the manner in which she is being introduced by her stepchildren to their friends. She is practically a stranger to them but she feels that it is not kind of them to say, "This is my father and Mrs. Blank" or "This is my father and his wife."

Answer: They should say, "This is my stepmother and my father."

* * *

Dear Mrs. Post: I have been employed by a cousin. When I see him in the office should I call him Mr. Blank or what I always have at home?

Answer: Before people and in an office it gives a much better impression to customers or clients if the employer is spoken to with his title. No matter what you call him outside of office hours, it is important to observe this correct business formality.

Wynboom to Retire After 12 Years as Village Treasurer

Little Chute—The political fight in this village for the spring election is becoming more active. Nomination papers for the office of village president have been circulated by the incumbent, John Vande Yacht and Anton "Casey" Jansen. John C. Wynboom who has been village treasurer for the last 12 years, announced to the village officials at a meeting held Tuesday evening that he will not be a candidate for re-election after the expiration of his term of office. He expressed his thanks to the village officials with whom he had worked and also extended his thanks to the people of the village for reelecting him to the office for so many years.

John Ebben, a former trustee, will be the candidate for the office of village treasurer. Others who have circulated nomination papers are Martin Van Hoof, village clerk, and Arthur Pennings, trustee.

The village board extended the time for payment of real estate taxes to July 1 by affidavit for those who are unable to pay now, at the meeting held Tuesday evening. Personal property taxes must be paid before any extension can be granted. The village treasurer will be at the village hall on March 12 from 9 to 12 o'clock in the morning and from 1 to 6 o'clock in the afternoon. Children's Teeth Topic at Meeting

Dr. H. F. O'Brian Addresses Group of Mothers at Kimberly

Kimberly—Dr. H. F. O'Brian, Appleton dentist, explained to mothers Tuesday evening at the public school why babies' teeth should be carefully watched and protected. He said much trouble is often caused when children lose the first teeth too soon and have several years before the permanent teeth come through. The speaker explained that when extraction of a child's tooth is necessary, a spare bar put in its place will keep the other teeth from expanding and closing much of the space that should be preserved for the permanent tooth. If this is not done the new tooth cannot grow straight as there will not be ample room.

Dr. O'Brian outlined the value of X-rays. Many cavities and defects cannot be seen with the naked eye, he pointed out.

He declared that where one tooth has a cavity or is infected without attention it will cause the teeth next to it to decay. He told the audience that it has been estimated that one person out of 200,000 has a set of perfect teeth.

Dr. O'Brian said that children must be taught at an early age to brush their teeth three times a day and at the age of 3 should visit the family dentist. Care must also be taken as to the diet which plays a big part in preventing decay. He showed several slides and displayed models of perfect teeth of children and adults.

Fred Paulus, chairman of the dance committee of the Booster club, explained at a meeting Tuesday evening that the club will hold two more dances after lent. The dates set are April 16 and May 14. Conservation Commission Tells How to Identify Them, Discusses Their Value to State over the southern half of the state. It usually attains a height of 60 to 80 feet with a trunk diameter of one to three feet. The crown is irregular in shape and often wide.

BLACK OAK

The black oak is found on dry uplands and gravel slopes and ridges

The leaves are usually 5 to 6 inches long and 3 to 4 inches wide, shallow or deeply lobed, the shape varying greatly. When mature the leaves are dark green and shiny on the upper surface, pale on the lower, more or less covered with down, and with conspicuous rusty brown hairs in the forks of the veins.

The fruit matures the second season. The nut is from ½ to 1 inch long, more or less hemispherical in shape and from ¼ to ½ enclosed in the thin, scaly cup. The kernel is yellow and extremely bitter.

The bark soon becomes rough and black, on old trees being thick, broken by deep fissures into thick ridges, which are cross-fissured. The inner bark is bright yellow.

The wood is similar to that of the red oak, and finds the same uses.

This species is rather slow of growth and many stands are being killed out by the black oak root rot, the damage from this disease being greatest where the woods is pastured.

Denmark and Hortonville Win Tourney Games

Former Defeats Brillion, Latter Trims Kimberly

Shiocton and Seymour Clash in Tonight's Feature Contest

Hortonville 13, Kimberly 12.

Thursday's Games
7:30—Wednesday's losers.
8:00—Seymour versus Shiocton.
9:00—Stockbridge versus Winneconne.

BY GORDON McINTYRE

KIMBERLY — Two thrillers opened the Kimberly district Class C high school basketball tournament here last night when Denmark defeated Brillion, 30 to 26, and Hortonville stopped Kimberly, 13 to 12.

Tonight the first round contests will be completed and the first game of the consolation round played. The first game will go on the boards at 7 o'clock when Kimberly tackles Brillion in consolation play. At 8 o'clock Seymour will meet Shiocton in the feature contest of the evening and at 9 o'clock Stockbridge and Winneconne will clash.

Last night's opening contest featured Denmark, eastern division winner in the Little Nine conference and Brillion, which placed second in the race. Brillion, paced by Howard Thiessen, a lanky center, who scored 16 points on six field goals and four free throws, led the Danes until midway in the third quarter and then threatened them with a last minute rally in the fourth.

Brillion Takes Lead

Thiessen sank five field goals and Ross a free throw to give Brillion an 11 to 9 lead in the opening quarter. The center's tosses were from anywhere on the floor and always bordered on the sensational. Denmark counted only two field goals but five free throws helped keep it in the ball game.

In the second quarter Brillion went ahead 16 to 9 as Ecker got a goal and Thiessen scored on three of four free throws. Shortly thereafter Denmark clicked for a few minutes and Lawrence, Peterson and Dimmer scored baskets in rapid succession and the score stood 18 to 15 for Brillion. Thiessen gave his team a 20 to 15 lead with another goal but Dimmer scored a basket and free throw for Denmark and Brillion's lead was only 20 to 18 at the half.

The third quarter saw Denmark start scoring with a vengeance and Peterson counted two baskets, Gigot a pair and Schleis one while Brillion counted only two free throws. Denmark was in front, 28 to 22, at the third quarter. The teams added free throws in the fourth period and in the last minute Urban almost pulled the game out of the fire for Brillion with two baskets. In the last 30 seconds Brillion tried desperately to tie the count and had several shots but missed.

Play Defensive Ball

Kimberly and Hortonville indulged in a defensive classic and if the Papermakers hadn't been so terrible on free throws they'd still be in the championship bracket of the meet. They missed eight in the first half and eleven for the game.

Battling hard for every break and continually rushing Hortonville, Kimberly held a 4 to 0 lead at the quarter. Van Dyke got one basket on a followup after Rooyakkers missed a free throw and Rooyakkers got the other bucket.

As the second period opened Gitter scored the first goal for Hortonville but Van Dyke came back with a basket for Kimberly and the score was 6 to 4. His shot was a rebound. Valentyne dumped a long one and the Kimberly lead was 8 to 3 but Gitter and Morack brought Hortonville back into the game with baskets and the half ended with Kimberly leading only 9 to 7.

The third quarter was a scorer's paradise with Schmeling getting a field goal for Hortonville and Van Dyke a free throw for Kimberly. The period ended with Kimberly nursing a 10 to 9 lead.

As the final eight minutes got underway Kobs added a free throw for Kimberly. Collar tossed a one-handed shot that tied the score and Hortonville followers went wild and then almost out of control as Gitter scored and the Polar Bears had a 13 to 11 lead. Bobs cut the lead when he dumped a free throw for Kimberly and the teams then missed free throws as they staged a terrific battle through the final minute.

HORTONVILLE GETS THE JUMP

Here's a picture showing how Hortonville and Kimberly cagers strained last night to get possession of the ball and keep their team in the running for the Kimberly district title. The two teams played in the second game of the evening with the Polar Bears downing the Papermakers in the last few minutes of play, 13 to 12. Pabst Blue Ribbons In 3,521 Match Count

Milwaukee—(AP)—The Pabst Blue Ribbon Beers bettered a state all-time high score last night by bowling a 3,521 series in a Classic league match. The former mark of 3,496 was made by the Heil Quality Products, world match champions, earlier this season.

The pabst team posted scores of 1,187, 1,124 and 1,210.

Revolta Leading at Hollywood Golf Meet

Hollywood, Fla.—(AP)—Johnny Revolta, Evanston, Ill., pro led the way into the second round of the 72-hole Hollywood open golf tournament today.

His par shattering 66 bettered the efforts of 149 other professional and amateur starters yesterday. Johnny Farrell, the home club pro, was one stroke back of Revolta.

PLAN GRID DINNER

Milwaukee — Long delayed because of the post-season trip to the Cotton Bowl in Dallas and the recent resignation of Coach Frank J. Murray, the varsity dinner for the 1936 Marquette university football squad will be held in conjunction with that for the basketball team late this month. The event will mark the first such get-together of Marquette grid and cage groups.

TOURNEY NOTES

Denmark offered something new in the way of a cheering section. Its three cheerleaders found themselves all alone so they put on a near vaudeville show going through their antics and yelling as loudly as three people could yell.

* * *

Hortonville had its school band at the game and it entertained during the intermissions with some snappy marches and a couple vocal numbers.

* * *

Denmark turned in three points in five seconds during its game with Brillion. Dimmer was fouled while shooting and made the shot and the free throw. The play came just as the timer announced 15 seconds to play in the second quarter.

* * *

Although most of the teams have met before this season all the coaches were on hand to watch the evening's contests. The idle ones got off a lot of cracks but they'll be on the receiving end tonight.

* * *

Hortonville had probably the biggest representation next to Kimberly. The Polar Bear fans didn't get very excited over things until their favorites finally tied the score and then they almost wrecked the clubhouse with Feminine Fan No. 1 in the lead.

* * *

The boys were battling with the "die for dear old—" spirit and the manner in which they battled for possession of the ball resulted in several hard spills and a lot of them are nursing bruises today. On one occasion the officials had to call time until a Denmark lad recovered from a tumble.

* * *

Among the coaches, Coach Rasmussen of Denmark took honors for foot stamping but Coach Ray Hamann of Kimberly was probably most excited. You'd thought his youngsters were playing the Renaissance for the world title. He'll never forgive his lads for missing all those free throws. Just three of them meant the difference between defeat and victory.

JENNINGS HONORED

Training Camp Briefs

By the Associated Press

Havana—Having "started something" among the scribes when he said his New York Giants were a better club this year than last, Manager Bill Terry is now telling why he thinks so. The pitching is better, his outfield will be improved, and his infield, even if he doesn't play himself, is a better one, claims Bill. He insists the improvement in reserve strength makes the inner defensive cordon higher powered than last year.

Clearwater, Fla. — The sum of $560 is assuming mountainous proportions in the Brooklyn Dodger training camp. Two of the top holdouts, pitcher Van Mungo and First Baseman Buddy Hassett are shouting that only $500 separates each of them from coming to terms—but they're not signing until they get it.

St. Petersburg, Fla.—The dressing room scales are taking a beating in the New York Yankees' training camp. Two of the larger pitchers in baseball, Bump Hadley and Pat Malone have turned up weighing 210 and 201 respectively, while hurler Monte Pearson brought more than 170 pounds with him, although he has already dropped to 153.

Pasadena—Manager Jimmy Dykes of Chicago's White Sox, a lot of third baseman in his own right, is wasting no time in testing the talents of his prospective successor, 19-year-old Steve Mesner from Los Angeles. Dykes gave the pitchers and catchers little attention in the opening drill yesterday, and concentrated in watching the youngster's fielding maneuvers.

Chicago—All of the Chicago Cub infield talent is under contract but the athletes from whom the outfield will be selected, still are listed among the dissatisfied. Billy Jurges, star shortstop, signed yesterday, leaving Outfielders Frank Demaree, Augie Galan, Joe Marty and Tuck Stainback, and Pitcher Tex Carleton unsigned.

Tampa, Fla.—Limbering up exercises and batting practice were ahead today for the first contingent of Cincinnati Reds to arrive for spring training. A second group was to leave Cincinnati this morning. Manager Charley Dressen said he expected to have 46 men undergoing daily workouts by Saturday.

13 Newcomers on Legion Fight Card

Oney Johnston Post to Offer 7 Amateur Bouts Tonight at Armory G

THE CARD
Windups

K. O. Brown, Ironwood, Mich., versus Johnny Haindl Cooks, Mich., at 147 pounds.

Roy Reykdal, Ashland, versus Frank Fudula, Negaunee, Mich., at 158 pounds.

Preliminaries

Al Faler, Ironwood, Mich., versus Lawrence Bourguignon, Green Bay, at 112 pounds.

Bud Mikelson, Ironwood, Mich., versus Leo Bedard, Nahma, Mich., at 145 pounds.

Al Cook, Neopit, versus Don Loonsfoot, Green Bay, at 118 pounds.

Wayne Fosberg, Trenary, Mich., versus Al Gramache, Hurley, at 135 pounds.

Clay Hogan, Oshkosh, versus Ed Wallace, Green Bay at 130 pounds.

Thirteen new faces will feature the amateur boxing card Oney Johnston post of American Legion will offer at 8:30 tonight at Armory G. Only one of the fourteen boxers on the card has shown on previous cards here, but all of the fighters have established themselves before state fans.

Most of the boys are winners in golden glove tournaments at Green Bay, and Wisconsin Rapids K. O. Brown, the 147-pounder who fights in one half of the double windup has set a fine record and comes well recommended as a crowd pleaser. His opponent Johnny Haindl, a Michigan lad, also has a reputation of mixing with the opposition.

Roy Reykdal of Ashland will meet another Michigan product in Frang Fudula a 158-pounder. Both boys have seen action on numerous fight programs in the northern part of the state and Michigan and should satisfy.

Don Loonsfoot, Green Bay, is the only boxer who has shown before Appleton fight fans. His opponent will be another Indian, Al Cook of Neopit. Clay Hogan of Oshkosh will take on Ed Wallace of Green Bay in the opener.

LAST NIGHT'S SCORE
Shawano 26, Menasha 18.

BY LES BISELX

MENASHA—The Shawano Indians won the Northeastern Wisconsin conference title last night by defeating the Menasha Bluejays, 26 and 18, in a listless basketball game played at Butte des Morts gymnasium.

Last night's victory gives the Indians 10 wins against 2 losses in conference play this season while Menasha still is in third place with 6 wins and 5 losses. West DePere High school cagers hold down the second step.

Bert Remmel was the only spark on the Menasha squad and led his mates with three buckets while playing a driving game. The rest of the team just could not get started and failed completely to display its usual brand of ball. Robbins, Shawano center, was the leading light for the visitors with three field goals and three gift tosses. Reed, shifty Indian guard, was off his game and connected only once during the evening.

Menasha Leads, 15-14

Most of the game was cut and dried with the score tied at the end of the first quarter and again at half time. Only five points were scored during the third stanza with the Caldermen going into a short lived lead of 15 to 14 at the end. In the final period, the Diltsmen came to life and scored 12 points to Menasha's one bucket and one free throw to win without a struggle.

Reed, Shawano guard, opened the scoring by sinking a gift shot off the gun when Godhardt miscued. Gottschalk dropped a sneaker from under the bucket and Robbins swished a charity toss before Menasha tallied on Remmel's first of three baskets from the circle. Fahrenkrug and Godhardt each dropped free throws to knot the count at 4-4 at the end of the quarter.

Menasha scored four buckets against three and two free throws for Shawano in the second quarter. A hook shot by Remmel as he drove down the court gave Menasha a 2-point lead which was nullified when Grignon punched in an impossible shot from the side. Brzycki followed with two short shots to give the Bluejays another advantage. Reed made the Indian score eight and Gottschalk raised the total to ten on an angle shot. Remmel dropped a long one and Robbins got two out of three free throws to end the half in a 12-12 tie.

Pep Talks Fail

Coaches' pep talks apparently failed to register when the two clubs came back after the rest period. Both clubs played cellar position basketball during the entire third quarter. Godhardt dropped a free throw and then Shawano took the lead on a neat pivot shot by Barker. Fahrenkrug connected with his only basket of the game to give his club a one-point lead at the end of the stanza.

In the final quarter, the Indians began to hit their stride while the Menashans continued to fumble the ball and overthrow their passes. Menasha failed to register a point until a minute before the gun in the quarter when Fahrenkrug dropped two free throws on Robbins personal and Godhardt hit the hoop for the other point again on Robbin's misplay. Robbins scored three baskets for the invaders during the period, all on short shots. Gottschalk and Grignon each tallied on field goals while Robbins and Reed connected on charity tosses to end the battle.

Beelers Get Nod in Kegling Feud With Hein's Hay Balers

The Beeler Boys and Hein's Hay Balers of Darboy came over to Tony Wonders' alleys at Little Chute and settled their feud with bowling balls and maple pins. Pins flew fast and furious as the Beeler boys came out of the smoke with games of 617, 650 and 862 pins for a 2,129 total and three wins over the Hay Balers. Hein's boys were a little off color as they rolled counts of 530, 590 and 631 for a 1,751 total but promised to do some practicing in the next few weeks and renew the kegling feud.

Joe Witzman led the Beeler Boys as he counted games of 116, 159 and 158 for a 433 total. Isadore Wittman also shared in the glory with a 178 game and 418 series. Hank Hein set the pace for his merry men, counting games of 160, 132 and 169 pins for a 461 total.

All-American Hockey Club in Debut Sunday

Chicago —(AP)— Chicago hockey fans will have a look at Major Frederic McLaughlin's "all American" hockey experiment Sunday night when the Chicago Black Hawks tackle the Toronto Maple Leafs.

Five youngsters who have been working under the direction of Coach Emil Iverson are forwards Bun LaPrairie of Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., Milton Brink and Albert Suomi of Eleveth, Minn., and Paul Schaefer of Hickley, Minn., and Ernest Klingbiel of Hancock, Mich. Defensemen will take regular turns on the ice as a unit in front of goalie Mike Karakas, a native of Eveleth.

Jack Kloza Signs His Milwaukee Contract

Milwaukee—(AP)—Jack Kloza veteran Milwaukee Brewer outfielder, signed a 1937 contract yesterday and became the fifth regular to join the squad.

Kloza told club officials he would start for the training camp at Biloxi, Miss., on March 12. Pitchers and catchers will follow a day later.

A heavy batsman in 1934, Kloza has seen little active duty since the opening of the 1935 season when he injured an elbow. Since then he underwent two operations.

84-Year Old Man Has Seen 300 Grid Games

Ft. Atkinson—(AP)—Eugene Gorton, who will celebrate his eighty-fourth birthday Saturday, can lay claim to being Ft. Atkinson's No. 1 sport fan.

Gorton said he has attended more than 300 football games played by Ft. Atkinson High school and local independent teams. He recalled driving to town from his farm east of here in 1897 to watch the first football game played by a Ft. Atkinson High school team.

The only game he's missed at the Jones park field, he said, was one in 1897 on the day threshers arrived at his farm and he couldn't get

Chuter, Menasha Teams Defeated At Catholic Meet

Both Lose to St. Catherine, Racine, in Consolation Play

DE PERE—(AP)—St Norbert Squires won a 33 to 21 basketball game last night from St. Stanislaus of Milwaukee to take their second consecutive championship in the state Catholic high school tournament.

St. Norbert's increased a seven point lead held at the half.

St. Catherine's High school of Racine won the consolation championship by defeating St. Mary of Menasha, 20 to 15. The Saints led all the way.

St. Catherine went into the consolation finals against the Menasha team by beating St. John of Little Chute, 27 to 26, in a thriller.

The first quarter ended with the score 5-all. In the second period St. John managed to take a 16 to 10 lead, but in the third stanza the Racine team came back and tied the count at 23-all. Van Hoof put Little Chute in front during the first few minutes of the final quarter but with three minutes left to play St. Catherine tied the count at 25-all.

Free throws put St. Catherine ahead by two points but Peeters cut the lead when he sank a free throw for Little Chute. A desperate shot at the hoop in the final seconds missed and St. John lost.

Heavy Situation Calm First Time in Weeks

New York —(AP)— The much mixed-up heavyweight situation dropped back into the first calm in weeks today, broken only by Joe Gould handing out 35 cent cigars and telling one and all what a "great guy" is Champion Jim Braddock.

Max Baer is on the high seas bound for London after playing hide-and-seek with Madison Square Garden's process servers; Max Schmeling is awaiting developments in New York, still confident he'll fight Braddock for the title, come June 3, and the Garden is considering legal moves.

Minnesota Closes Against Chicago U.

Chicago —(AP)— Minnesota's surprising Gophers will be favored to knock off Chicago Saturday night and thus assure themselves of at least a share of the Big Ten basketball title—but they shouldn't take the luckless Maroons too lightly.

Not a man on the Chicago squad has ever been on the winning side in a Big Ten championship game—the Maroons have not won a conference game since defeating Iowa, 41 to 40, Feb. 23, 1935, and will be primed for a rousing effort to produce an upset.

Cavalcade, now retired to the stud, won ten times more in stakes and purses than he cost as a yearling.

GREEN BAY—Aiming to muss up Appleton's championship chances just as East manhandled Sheboygan last week, Green Bay West will travel to the College city Friday night for its last Fox River Valley conference game of the season away from home. The Wildcats will close their 1937 schedule March 12, being at home to East.

The principal assignments of the Green Bay teams between now and the season's end will be to bring their percentage ratings to the .500 point. West needs victories over Appleton and East, while the Red Devils must trim the Wildcats, if either is to accomplish the trick.

Have Poor Success

Against Appleton, the Wildcats have had miserable luck. They have captured only four victories in 23 games to date and were beaten here earlier this season, 23 to 15. Appleton has scored 488 points while holding West to 297.

Despite these unfavorable statistics, an upset win for West Friday is far from out of the picture, particularly since Appleton was handed a pasting by the league-leading Oshkosh team last week. Oshkosh now rests in first place, with Sheboygan half a game behind and Appleton one contest out of the lead.

Oshkosh has a tough assignment Friday, meeting Manitowoc on its home floor, where the Shipbuilders have been unbeatable this season. Sheboygan is at home to Fond du Lac, and a Cardinal win will be the wildest possible upset.

Racing Hits New High In Florida This Week

BY EDDIE BRIETZ

TAMPA, Fla.—(AP)—Racing down here hits a new high for the season this week. . . The $50,000 Widener challenge cup, named for the owner of Hialeah park, is to be run at Miami, Saturday. . . Some of the best campaigners in the country are entered and it's too bad Roman Soldier pulled up lame and can't start. . . Old Rabbit Maranville, as spry as a colt, is around the baseball camps spinning yarns that make your hair stand up and looking for man power for his Montreal team. . . Babe Ruth definitely has decided not to take his annual Florida visit. . . Too many broadcasting engagements in the east.

* * *

Bill Harridge, president of the American league, is having such a good time at Miami he keeps staying and staying. . . So is young Horace Stoneham, president of the Giants. . . Sees his team as sure repeaters in the National. . . Bill McKechnie of the Bees is enthusiastic about several of his rookies who average about 35 years in age. . . During the years he has been connected with baseball, General Manager Warren C. Giles of the Cincinnati Reds, has traveled to ball parks by automobile, bus, train, trolley, horse and buggy and afoot. . . The other day he visited the Reds' park by foot. Flood waters covered the field.

* * *

The world's series scandal of 1919 is bobbing up again. . . Across the bay at St. Peter, old Eddie Roush told a wild yarn about two gambling mobs operating against each other. . . About the same time, little Dickie Kerr, now 43, told his version to Dave Bloom, Memphis Sports Ed. . . Kerr, now manager of Wausau (Wis.) in the Northern league, was one of the White Sox untouched by the scandal. . . Joe Gould loudly announces that Jack Dempsey (in person) will help direct Jimmy Braddock's preparations for the Louis fight, at last reports still scheduled for Chicago on June 22. . . Eddie Collins, general manager of the Red Sox, has seen more than 8,000 baseball games, but he hasn't been to a fight since the Dempsey-Firpo affair back in the early 20's.

* * *

Fellow pros, who says he's red hot, have established Harry Cooper of Chicago to win the $3,000 Hollywood (Fla.) open, which started yesterday. . . A few days ago Harry won a three-way play-off in the St. Peter open. . . Paul Krichell and Johnny Nee, portly scouts of the Yankees, don uniforms and work out daily with the club. . . They are trying to induce Mike Gavin, 246-pound baseball writer of the new Star-Eagle, to put on a suit and make them look good. . . The man showing the most pepper in the Boston Bees camp these days is none other than Bob Smith, the old pitcher, on the roll as a scout this season. . . Most nervous rookie so far is young Donaldson, Yankee catching recruit. . . He was so excited the first time they put him behind the platter, he fumbled the first six pitches Pat Malone shot over.

Chandler Drills M. U. Cagers for Ramblers

Milwaukee — (AP) — Coach Bill Chandler drilled his Marquette University cagers on a fast, breaking offense today to prepare them for the invasion of the strong Notre Dame team in the final game of the season here Saturday night.

Marquette lost to Notre Dame at South Bend a week ago after collapsing in the second half. A wide open game is looked for this weekend.

The Notre Dame squad is built around Johnny Moir, high scoring forward, and Paul Nowak, lanky center.

Report Driscoll to Get Marquette Post

Chicago —(AP)— Paddy Driscoll, former Northwestern gridiron star, was reported today to be under consideration as Marquette's choice as successor to Frank Murray as head football coach.

Driscoll, a great back at Northwestern before the start of the last decade, played professional football with the Chicago Bears and Cardinals, and for more than 10 years has been athletic director, football and basketball coach at St. Mel high school.

BETTERS PROMISE

Milwaukee — Coach Conrad M. Jennings of the Marquette university track squad doesn't mind at all when his athletes fail to keep their promises, so long as they follow the recent procedure of Edward Burke, sophomore high-jumper. Before leaving for the National A. A. U. meet in New York, Burke promised Jennings he would leap 6 feet, 10 inches. He went 6 feet, 9¼ inches, which was good enough for a world's record and the national title.

HE'S "UNSUNG" HERO

Milwaukee — If there is any such thing as an "unsung hero" on the 1937 Marquette university basketball team, he is Dave Quabius, lanky sophomore guard from Milwaukee North Division High school. Quabius has been a quiet, consistent performer—rarely flashy and never poor, and is the only man on Coach Bill Chandler's varsity who has scored in every game this season.

Ask Open Season For Line Fishing Of Pike and Bass

Waupaca County Sportsmen Appear Before Conservation Body

(Post-Crescent Madison Bureau)

Madison—Advancement of the open season for hook and line fishing and pike and bass on the Wolf river from April 20 to April 1 was demanded by 18 determined delegates, representing 2,000 Waupaca county fishermen, at a meeting with B. W. Webster, superintendent of the bureau of fisheries of the state conservation department, here Wednesday afternoon. The delegates fortified their demands with the presentation of petitions signed by more than 1300 sportsmen in Waupaca and Outagamie counties, gathered they said, in a single day.

The delegation came to Madison to protest against alleged unfairness of the state conservation commission in forbidding hook and line fishing on the Wolf river and its tributaries before April 20, while there is no restriction on the fishermen operating on Lake Winnebago. Good fishing on the Wolf river prevails for only about three weeks during the year, the delegates asserted, and those weeks occur during the closed season. By April 20, they said, fish have finished their spawning up-river, and have returned to the lake, where fishermen are free to operate.

Followed Recommendation

Superintendent Webster told the fishermen that the closed season order took effect last year for the first time, and on the reccomendation of the Waupaca county fish and game committee, a citizens' group chosen by county sportsmen to make recommendations to the conservation department. The delegates, however, including Assemblyman Alvin A. Handrich, Manawa, who presented their demands, insisted that they had never heard of this county committee, were not notified of the meeting at which it was chosen, and would never have ratified the recommendation.

After two hours of give and take discussion between the fishermen and Webster, during which Waupaca county was described as harboring more game violators than any other county in the state, and during which many sharp comments were directed at the policies of the conservation department and the commission which governs it, the group drew up its formal demand, the rescinding of the closed season order, and were assured by Webster that it would be brought before the commission at the next meeting, March 16.

Webster expressed the belief that it is too late to effect a change in the ruling this year, because, he explained, the commission does not meet until March 16, a hearing will have to be held in Waupaca county, and the ruling, if ordered by the commission, must be published for three weeks to become legal. But a short cut may be found, he suggested.

Prominent among the delegates at the hearing yesterday were representatives of the newly formed New London hunting and fishing club, formed early this week by sportsmen from Sugar Bush, Hortonville, Dale, Shiocton and New London. Spokesmen for the group told Webster, who held the hearing in the absence of Director MacKenzie and other officers of the department, that the Waupaca county organizations stood ready to cooperate with the department of conservation to eliminate game violators in the county.

Numerous complaints of "game hogs" were made at the hearing, some men citing instances in which violators bagged 600 pounds of pike in a single night's work, for sale on the Milwaukee and Chicago markets.

Numerous speakers among the group reiterated the argument that hook and line fishing does not deplete the river, and does not interfere with spawning for they maintained, spawning fish are not attracted to the hook.

Members Of Group

Those who came to Madison for the hearing were L. J. Polaski, Ray Wochinski, Merle McFaul, Henry Worm, Harland Mitchell, M J. Heinz, Orville Froelich, Rudy Ploetz, T. J. LaMarche, Art Lasch, William Knapstein, George Spurr, James Graham, and William Eggerts, all of New London. George Lapp, Dale, Charles Bratz, Dale, and Park McMeekin, Hortonville

Prominent in the discussion was Assemblyman Handrich, who represents Waupaca county in the legislature. Handrich assisted in drafting the resolution presented to the conservation commission, and introduced the delegates when they spoke. Scheduled to be present also were Senator Mike Mack of Outagamie and Shawano counties, and Senator Herman J Severson of Waupaca county. Both however, were detained by important legislative committee hearings.

New London Will Meet Neenah Next

Stacymen Will Play Final Conference Game Friday Night

New London—With some misgivings New London High cagers will travel to Neenah Friday evening in an attempt to queer the jinx which has kept New London from winning on the Rocket floor. It will be the last conference game of the season for the Red and White. In an earlier game here Neenah was unable to win in an effort to break a similar record on the local floor They have never defeated the Stacymen in the new high school gym.

The showing at Neenah tomorrow night is a matter of speculation as all games of the New London quint have proven. Ben Stern, ace forward, was out of school several days last week with slight illness but returned yesterday to get in trim for the tussle. Bob Yost, slim center, has not been himself all season having been lost to the team quite often because of sickness. He has been out for regular practice the past two weeks. Demming, Nader and Glocke should be in good form against Neenah and in the district tournament which looms on next week's cage calendar.

The reserve squad also will take the bus for Neenah tomorrow night to play a preliminary with the Rocket reserves. The New London B's have won nine and lost but two games so far.

When she's not visiting Lincoln school with New London children, Nancy Ann Hecker, 7, Milwaukee, has several playmates at the home of her grandmother, Mrs. Charles Abrams, 120 W. Besides her own little Boston bull terrior, Muni, she has Hans, a 6-months-old long-haired daschund which Mrs. Abrams brought from Chicago last week. Both dogs have a long pedigree but that wasn't important when they had to stop playing long enough for the above picture. Next week Nancy and her mother will go to Virginia to join Mr. Hecker who is in the east on business. At Milwaukee they live at 1900 E. Elmdale court. (Post-Crescent Photo)

Municipal Bathhouse, Pool to be Ready for Use With Warm Weather

New London—New London bathers will enjoy the best in swimming facilities this spring in so far as the completion of WPA work on the bathhouse and pool is concerned, F. A. Jennings, park superintendent, said yesterday.

All plumbing fixtures have been installed and toilet partitions are in the process of installation. The interior of the building has been finished except for the lockers or baskets. These must be furnished by the city, according to the park head. All that is necessary now for operation of the pool is connection of the system with the city water supply.

The tool house was moved yesterday to a point beyond the knoll toward the south end of the park proper. This building will be turned over to the boy scouts when it is no longer needed for tools. The entire corner surrounding the building has been left untouched so that scouts may develop the plot for themselves.

A full crew of 65 men is at work on different phases of the project. At present much filling is being done and roadways circling the park are being filled with sand to a depth of one foot.

Robert M. Connelly, city engineer, has started plans for the stone fieldhouse and work will begin on that as soon as the plans are completed and approved.

Council Extends Time for Payment Of Realty Taxes

Extensions Will be Granted on Filing of Affidavits

Neenah—The time for payment of real estate taxes for 1936 without penalty was extended from March 1 to July 1 by a resolution passed at a council meeting in the council chamber of the city hall last evening. The ruling requires the filing of an affidavit with the city treasurer stating that the person is unable to pay.

A portion of the city dumping ground was transferred to the state of Wisconsin for relocating U. S. Highway 41 without any financial transaction involved. A petition for a storm sewer, curb and gutter on Grove street between Spruce and Division streets was received and referred to the committee on public improvements. There were 19 signatures on the petition.

Remove Tracks

Alderman William Schmidt, Jr., chairman of the committee on public improvements, said the group had met with officials of the Wisconsin-Michigan Power Co. and the matter of removing and disposing of old street car tracks on N. Commercial street in preparation for widening and resurfacing had been taken under advisement.

He said a representative of the Chicago and North Western railway had conferred with the committee and it would be necessary to remove gates at the N. Commercial street crossing because of the widening program. The railway official recommended the installation of a wig-wag signal in the center of the street with a man on duty at all times.

May Issue Bonds

The city treasurer, Walter H. Loehning, was authorized to issue bonds against property owners on Higgins avenue from Laudan avenue to Cecil street for installation of a sanitary sewer. The bonds would bear interest at 6 per cent a year.

Alderman Louis E. Swane revived an issue concerning the operation of a transfer station on Smith street and said an ordinance would be presented at the next meeting prohibiting heavy trucking on that street during certain hours of the night.

He declared the noise made during the night disturbed neighboring residents and constituted a public nuisance. Alderman George Mac Donald agreed that it appeared to be a disagreeable situation but he said he could see little difference between a transfer station and a nearby railway.

Explains Situation

Harold E. Lillicrap, owner of the terminal, said the property, though located in a residential area, had been used commercially as a bottling works and that he bought the land with the intention of using it for his business. The drivers have been instructed to be as quiet as possible and we will never have more than two trucks coming in at night, Mr. Lillicrap said.

Alderman William Schmidt found out from Viggo Sorenson, assistant chief of police, that nobody had complained to police and declared the ordinance would not be effective if confined to one area in the city. The matter was left open for further consideration.

A total of 137 bills amounting to $110,934.73 were allowed. The major items include: U. S. Treasury bills, $99,654.56; relief, $2,053.06; insurance, $1,592; street lighting, $1,428.65.

Oshkosh — An average of 35 men per day were employed during February on the excavation and preliminary work for the construction of the new $1,000,000 Winnebago county courthouse, a report of Superintendent Julius Sandstedt, of the firm of Granger and Bollenbacher, architects, revealed.

Several days during the month the total number of men working on the courthouse reached 53, with an average of 15 men on excavating work, 3 on iron work, and 4 plumbers.

The Lindoff-Bicknell Co., Chicago, have the general contract on the new edifice.

Supt. Sandstedt's report states that the general mass excavation of the entire building project was completed this past week. All that remains of the excavating work will be done by hand. This consists of making room for a few remaining column footings and the ventilating tunnel.

In the past week the two power shovels have been removed from the job, Supt. Sandstedt said. The general contractor, the Lindoff-Bicknell Co., have back-filled the footings that are located in that portion of the building to the west of the "F" line of the columns. A start on erecting forms for the garage has been made.

It was stated that at present, concrete has been poured in 58 per cent of the column footings. The well located under column 3 has been filled with rubble concrete.

Sandstedt said the plumbing contractor has completed about 90 per cent of the sanitary sewer that runs around the front of the building to Jackson drive. Back-filling has also started on the trench.

Social Security Information Is Offered Workers

Postmaster Warns Employes to File Applications Immediately

Menasha—Employee information on making application and retaining social security numbers was released this morning by Joseph R. Coyle, postmaster.

The postmaster said, "It should be clearly understood by every employee that it is to his advantage to file his application and furnish the information requested. Otherwise, under the law, it will become necessary for the employer to do so for the employe."

"Every effort should be made to prevent the issuance of more than one identification number to the same person and employes should understand that if a second number is received, it must be returned at once for cancellation. One number is all that a person should have regardless of the number of jobs he is holding. It is not necessary on changing employers to secure another number. The identification card should simply be shown to the new employer in order that his record may be complete."

Should Retain Number

"It has also been noted that many employes after signing the number cards, have mailed them to Washington and in other cases the employers have retained the employes' cards. It should be clearly understood by both the employer and the employe that the number card is the property of the employe and should be retained by him."

"The employer has no right to retain the card after the employe has left his service. Employers should be informed that the non-possession of a social security card is no reason for not hiring a person provided that he files an application immediately. In a case where it becomes necessary for an employer to file an application for an employe because of his continued neglect of refusal to do so, the application will be accepted and the employer notified by letter of the number assigned."

ANNOUNCE LOAN CONTRACT

Washington—(P)—The rural electrification administration today announced execution of a loan contract with the Vernon electric cooperative, Viroqua, Wis to permit up to $480,000 in loans for 503 miles of line in Crawford, Juneau, La Crosse, Monroe, Sauk and Vernon counties.

Seeing its reflection in a Swellendam, South Africa, garage window, a goat charged. The goat's owner had to pay $30 damages.

No Need for State Small Loans, Bank Commissioner Says

Madison —(P)— Peter J. Cleary, state banking commissioner, told the assembly committee on insurance and banking yesterday there is no need for a state administered small loans business because of the rapid replacement of the private small loan companies in Wisconsin by credit unions.

Cleary spoke at a hearing on a proposal of Assemblyman Joseph Mueller (P), Milwaukee, to set up a $500,000 revolving fund from which the state banking department could loan sums of less than $300.

In 1931, Cleary said, there were 196 small loan companies in the state with outstanding claims of $15,500,000. In 1935 he added, there were but 48 companies with loans of $7,417,000. He said credit unions have increased in number from 201 in 1933 to 455 in 1936.

Cleary disagreed with Mueller's statement that the state could loan money at lower interest rates than private companies. Credit unions, Cleary said, can operate on the lowest rate because they have no salaried officers, nor office rentals

"The credit unions," he said, "are so rapidly covering the small loans field that within three years Wisconsin will no longer be troubled by small loan problems."

Flashes of Life

By the Associated Press

Buffalo, N. Y.—(P—Paul Valenti, 28, has two years to pay for the sedan he drove into Buffalo harbor in a fit of temper.

He bought the car for $190 last fall, paid $15 down.

"I found out it was a year older than he (the salesman) told me, so I ran her into the harbor," he told City Judge Robert J. Summers.

Judge Summers put him on probation with the condition he must pay the balance of the debt.

Same Dose

Denver —A moocher, Dick Richards, 66, explained is a man who mumbles "gimme a dime for a cuppa coffee."

A panhandler is more delicate, saying: "Beautiful day, May I have a dime?"

Enlightened, Police Judge Philip B Gilliam changed the charge from mooching to panhandling — and fined Richards $50.

Authorize Extention Of Electric Lines

Madison—(P)—The public service commission authorized the Wisconsin Public Service corporation today to extend its electric lines in the towns of Rock Falls and Brich in Lincoln county.

The commission said the rural electrification co-ordination office had withdrawn objection to the project.

In the absence of REA objections, the commission also authorized the corporation to build 12.55 miles of line in the towns of Franklin, Kewaunee county, and New Denmark, Brown county, and 8.5 miles in the town of Grover, Marinette county.

The Wisconsin Power and Light company was given permission to extend its lines into the town of Honey Creek, Sauk county.

Assembly Advances Bill to Paint All School Buses Red, White and Blue for Safety

Madison—(P)—The assembly advanced a bill today which provides that all buses operated by school districts for transportation of school children shall be painted red, white and blue as a safety measure.

The author, Assemblyman Herbert Schenck, (P), Madison, said the United Commercial Travelers' association asked for the legislation. He contended that motorists, forewarned by the distinctive coloring, would exercise greater care while passing a school bus.

An amendment exempting private automobiles used for taking children to and from school eliminated final objections to the measure. It was advanced to third reading, one step short of passage.

The house also advanced a bill by Assemblyman H. S. Halverson, (P), Westby, which provides that when a municipality starts utility acquisition proceedings, the costs incurred by the public service commission in its price-fixing investigation shall be paid by the private utility and not by the municipality.

Two Measures Beaten

Two bills were killed. One by Assemblyman John Kostuck, (P), Stevens Point, would have required municipal water and light plants to render free service to schools and charitable institutions, and the other, by Assemblyman Martin Franzkowiak, (D), Milwaukee, would have prevented declaration of a dividend by building and loan associations until investors have been permitted to make withdrawals.

A drawn-out fight over placing the beverage tax division under civil service was revived when the joint finance committee recommended passage of an administration bill which would transfer the division from the treasurer's office to the tax commission and inaugurate civil service in July.

Assemblyman Vernon Thomson, (R), Richland Center, author of another bill, would place the division under civil service immediately following enactment of such a law, pushed through a resolution directing the bureau of personnel to prepare a classification of employes in the division so that competitive examinations can be held shortly after his or the administration bill is enacted.

Asks Broader Program To Preserve Waterfowl

St. Louis —(P)— A broader international waterfowl conservation program was urged today at the closing session of the North American Wildlife conference by Hoyes Lloyd, superintendent of the wildlife protection work in Canadian national parks.

"Canada is doing its part in conserving wildlife resources, especially waterfowl, but adequate protection for migratory birds is necessary in both the United States and Canada," he said.

Ira N Gabrielson, chief of the United States Biological survey, urged continuation of the vigorous campaign against water pollution.

"If an industry cannot operate without polluting public waters, destroying fish and other aquatic resources and ruining the recreational value of those waters, is it not a liability which the nation should not be asked to carry indefinitely?" he asked

Bella L. Foresman Lansing Mich., was named head of region division No. 7, comprising Michigan, Wisconsin and Minnesota, of the federation yesterday.

William J. Aberg of Madison, Wis., was chosen a member of the board of directors.

The purchase price of $57,500 would be applied to the delinquent taxes. Following purchase of the land, he said, the company agreed to reopen before Sept. 1 and employ at least 125 men. The Paine company, engaged in the manufacture of doors, is now operating at New London, Wis.

ESCAPE IF YOU CAN

BY FREDERICK JACKSON

SYNOPSIS: Count Vronski, who is blackmailing Anne Phelps with a packet of love letters, is shot to death in her studio. Only Anne, Bigelow, the young American from Paris, and Karsanakoff, the glamorous dancer, are in the apartment. They hide the body in a cupboard during a gay party, then Bigelow and Dr. Austrelitz, the psychologist, remove it to Vronski's apartment. Police arrest Thorne Dryden, a young millionaire who hated Vronski, but refuses to talk. Dryden saw Austrelitz and Bigelow taking Vronski home, his lawyer says.

Chapter 20

Lorna Dryden Vanishes

AUSTRELITZ rose and began to pace the floor of his consulting room thoughtfully. The nurse with the auburn hair knocked on the door, opened it and looked in.

"Miss Phelps is here to see you, doctor," she said. "She says it is important."

"Miss Phelps—?" cried Bigelow, in astonishment.

"Show her in, please," said Austrelitz.

"But I only just left her at her door," said Bigelow, as the nurse withdrew.

"Something new has turned up," said Austrelitz. "I presume you mentioned you were coming here?"

"Yes."

Anne came in, obviously laboring under some excitement.

"I thought you'd still be here," she said to Bigelow, and then turned to smile at the doctor, "and that it might be a good idea for us all to talk this over together. I've just come from the Drydens'. And Lorna has disappeared."

"Disappeared?" cried Austrelitz interestedly. Bigelow merely stared.

"Yes," said Anne, taking the chair the doctor indicated. "I'll tell you all I know about it. After you left me—" she glanced at Bigelow "—I thought I would run over and see Lorna. She's been on my mind ever since I heard the news this morning — and we're very old friends—and I thought I would just run in and say what I could to comfort her and ask if there was anything I could do. I thought I could do that without arousing any suspicions."

Both men nodded swiftly. Anne went on, "But when I got there, I found a police officer—Chief Inspector Hagedorn—questioning the servants. He was standing just behind the butler when the door opened, so I hadn't a chance to retreat even if I had thought of it, which I didn't. It seemed to me a splendid opportunity to find out what I could—perhaps what the police are thinking—and planning. So I opened my eyes wide at Chief Inspector Hagedorn and was very artless indeed. He seemed rather a simple man but I reminded myself that he might be opening his eyes wide and acting artless, too, so I was on my guard."

She smiled. Austrelitz smiled back at her approvingly.

"Well—?" urged Bigelow impatiently.

"Well—he begged me most politely to walk in and proceeded to question me. He learned that Lorna and I had been children together and that I knew Dryden intimately and couldn't believe he could be capable of such a crime, and that I was sure if he had done it, he'd say so at once. And that I knew Vronski very well and had no idea why he and Dryden had quarreled—if they had quarreled. You can imagine the course I pursued. Then he wanted a list of Lorna's family and friends and I told him to look in the Blue Book for she knew everybody, of course.

"But that line of inquiry puzzled me, so I asked a few questions, declaring my anxiety to help him in any way that I could. And he told me that shortly after her husband's arrest Lorna had put on her coat and gone out, without saying a word to anyone—and she hasn't come back. Naturally, the police weren't watching her for they had had no reason to anticipate that she would vanish like this. And there were a lot of questions they wanted to ask her. And they can't imagine why she should have run away, because a wife can't be compelled to testify against her husband. But she's gone, without even a night gown or tooth brush. And her two aunts and her grandmother in Connecticut all swear they haven't seen her and have no idea where she is . . . Now what do you make of that?"

'Could a Fifth Person?—'

There was an instant's silence as both men thought over her story.

"I find it most extraordinary," said Austrelitz at last. "Most."

"So did I" said Anne. "Lorna has never been the type to avoid publicity. And I should have expected her to bask in the limelight, now, and give indignant interviews and pose for sweet pathetic photographs. I mean she's not terribly brilliant, you know, but she's not a complete fool and she would surely have realized that she could have helped Dryden more by standing by, than by running away. It's bound to look as if she is afraid and has something to hide."

"That's so," agreed Bigelow, looking from Anne to the doctor.

The doctor paced the floor in silence, his brow knit in thought. For a long time, the others watched him, saying nothing.

"Would it have been possible—?" he began at last, halting to face them both directly, "—for a fifth person to enter the studio—unseen by the rest of you—on the night of the killing?"

"A — fifth person?" repeated Anne, staring.

"Yes. Four of you returned from the night club together—you and Bigelow and Madame Karsanakoff and Vronski. What happened directly you arrived?"

They suddenly grasped his meaning. "We entered and looked about," said Bigelow. "Then Anne went into the kitchen to set out bottles and glasses. I joined her to lend a hand. Vronski went to the telephone in the studio itself to order food and Karsanakoff remained with him."

"When I arrived—long afterward, of course," said Austrelitz, "the door downstairs was open so that anyone could enter without having to wait to be admitted."

"Yes," cried Anne. "I left it that way when we came in."

"Ah. And the upstairs door? I had to knock, there."

"Yes," said Bigelow. "I don't believe the upstairs door was left open at any time."

"Can you be quite sure? Who came in last?"

Anne half closed her eyes, thinking. "Vronski, I am sure," she said. "I came in first and switched on the lights. Karsanakoff followed me—"

"That's right!" cried Bigelow. "Then I came and Vronski brought up the rear."

"So that he might have left the upstairs door open—for all you know to the contrary."

"Yes, I suppose so," admitted Bigelow. Anne nodded agreement.

"And if Dryden had been following you, he might have come in and shot Vronski—unknown to you. . . . According to his story, he didn't see Vronski at the night club and went off to seek him elsewhere. But his story isn't necessarily true."

Bigelow and Anne were regarding each other searchingly. Austrelitz noted this and smiled faintly.

"You are both thinking that Dryden could not have slipped in and shot Vronski because you think you know who did. But as a matter of fact, you know nothing. You are both guilty—merely of jumping to conclusions. You refrained from asking each other questions because each of you thought you

New Ordinance Asks Licenses From Peddlers

Regulation to be Discussed Publicly at Council Meeting

Kaukauna — A new ordinance regulating peddling in the city was proposed by Harry McAndrews, city attorney, at the council meeting this week. It will be published for the information of citizens and discussed at the next meeting of the council March 16.

McAndrews wrote the ordinance at the council's suggestion after he had pointed out that the present regulations governing peddling licenses conflict with the state law. Attention was turned on this matter when several local bakers filed protests with the council against the practices of outside bakers who are said to be selling from house to house.

The present ordinance is discriminatory, McAndrews said, in demanding that outsiders have licenses and excusing local peddlers. It would not stand up in court, he declared.

Exempts Farmers

The new regulation affects "transient merchants, canvassers and peddlers," but does not apply to farmers selling their products in the city. It orders that vendors coming under these classifications, whether local or outside people, must first obtain a license from the city clerk.

Although the council will fix the fees later, providing the ordinance is adopted, it is planned to sell three types of permits. They are for the following periods: (1) One day and not more than 30; (2) Thirty days and not more than 90; (3) Ninety days and not more than one year

File Application

The peddler must first fill out an application form giving his name, address, the nature of his business, and other facts. If he uses scales in his selling, he must have his equipment inspected and approved by the sealer of weights and measures. If he handles foodstuffs, it is necessary for him to get a certificate from the health officer stating that he is free of contagious disease.

Licenses will expire on Jan. 1 following the date of issuance, but the council may set up an earlier expiration date. The permits will not be granted to anyone under 21 years of age and once revoked, they cannot be renewed for six months.

List Violation

Loss of license or more severe penalties which will be determined by the council will be ordered for the following irregularities: misrepresenting quantity, character, or quality of article, not having license, not keeping vehicles or containers clean, and blowing horn, ringing bell, or using other noisy device to draw buyers.

The trucks or other vehicles used by the peddlers must be marked on both sides with the number of the license and the words "Licensed Vendor." The ordinance automatically repeals all other similar city regulations.

'BLACK LEGION' PLAYS AT APPLETON

Warner Brothers have ripped the mask off the hooded hoodlums who carry out their program of terrorism under cover of night, in "The Black Legion" opening a 3-day engagement at the Appleton Theater today. The cast is headed by Humphrey Bogart, Ann Sheridan, Dick Foran, Erin O'Brien Moore, and Robert Barrat. The second feature on this program, "Girl Overboard", has Gloria Stuart and Walter Pidgeon in the cast.

Sioux Indians Warred Only On Aggression by White Men, Speaker Tells Club

Kaukauna—A tribe that was more interested in a peaceful family life than savage war and fought only when white men ignored treaties and usurped land was the description of the Sioux Indians drawn by Dr. Ralph V. Landis of Appleton in his talk before the Rotary club at noon luncheon in Hotel Kaukauna yesterday.

"When I first began studying the Sioux tribe as a hobby, I looked to their enemies, the great Indian fighters, as my heroes," Dr. Landis said, "but since then I have found that the Indians themselves were the true heroes."

The speaker, who spent his boyhood in North Dakota near the habitat of the Sioux tribe, said that if he were to explain the struggle of the Indian against the onrush of the white man, he would do it with music. "But there is no music written which could adequately describe the saga, no musicians who could play it, and no conductor capable of directing it," he added.

He pictured the Siouxs as an energetic, well-governed tribe with a sense of justice both in their own affairs and in their dealings with others.

"The Sioux Indian was a good family man," Dr. Landis said. "He took careful care of his wife and belongings and had definite ideas about government. He didn't believe in capital punishment and if one of his tribe killed another for no justified reason, the killer was banned from the tribe for as many as five years."

The warfare in North Dakota between the Sioux and the whites which ultimately led to the famous annihilation of General Custer and his soldiers grew from the white man's infraction of a treaty, Dr. Landis said. "This treaty was made in 1866 and through it the Sioux were given the Big Horn mountains and a great area of surrounding land as a permanent reservation. Then gold was found in the mountains and the whites made their invasion against the agreement."

Sitting Bull, who fomented the rebellion of the Siouxs, was not a great warrior, according to Dr. Landis. "He was a politician, medicine man, not a fighter," the speaker said.

Custer's downfall resulted from his wrong assumption that the Indians were running away from him. "Instead they were just leading him into a trap," the Appleton doctor declared. "Custer had marched his men hard for two days. Both men and horses were worn out and when the Sioux suddenly appeared in overwhelming numbers, the army detachment was powerless"

Propose Popular Election of City Attorney at Polls

Kaukauna—The common council this week adopted a resolution to have the voters decide this spring whether the office of city attorney, now held by Harry McAndrews, will become elective rather than appointive.

The ordinance prescribing the change has been drawn up by McAndrews and if adopted will take effect in April of 1938 when the voters will elect a city attorney for a term of two years.

If a vacancy occurs in the post either through death, resignation, or other causes, the mayor will make an appointment with the confirmation of the majority of the council.

Under the present system, the city attorney is appointed by Mayor John Niesen with the council's approval.

Ludtke Seeks Another Term as Alderman

Kaukauna— Alderman Otto M. Ludtke, second ward, whose term expires this spring, has announced that he will seek reelection on April 6. Ludtke is finishing his fourth year on the council and is chairman of the North Road district.

The deadline for filing nominating papers in the non-partisan election is Monday, March 22.

$2,391 Spent for Relief in Month

Costs in February Were $95 Above January

Kaukauna—February's city relief expenditures were $95 higher than January's, a report made by Joseph Krahn, poor director, to the city council reveals.

A total of $2,391.67 was spent during February compared to $2,296.62 the month before. Fifteen relief cases were closed during last month and a like number opened. The city has a load of 97 cases at the present time.

"There are certain items which must be considered in this month's report, however," Krahn said. "We have an expense of $95.70 for non-resident help which extends over five months and was not included in the January budget. There were also certain medical and hospital bills and a burial which caused abnormal expenditure."

There are 55 men and nine women on WPA in the city and 13 girls and nine boys on NYA. Five men are working under the PWA program. The total number of relief charges is 225 adults and 114 children.

The figure for February of this year is $1,200 less than that of last year, however. Although certified figures are not available, Krahn estimates that the 1936 February budget amounted to $3,600.

Social Items

Kaukauna — Mrs. Delia Hesser, Mrs. Elzina Schroeder, Mrs. Bess Knutzen and Mrs. Mayme Sindahl, Fond du Lac, visited here Tuesday afternoon with Mrs. Ethel Densch, Wisconsin avenue.

A scocial meeting of Kaukauna Aerie No. 1416, Fraternal Order of Eagles, will be held at 8 o'clock tonight in the club rooms. President Ray Schmalz will name committees to arrange for the meeting Thursday, March 18, at which the grand worthy president, Dr. H. B. Herhamann of Los Angeles, will be the honored guest.

The Kaukauna office of the Appleton Post-Crescent is located in the Jules Mertes barbershop on Wisconsin avenue. Don Anderson is the correspondent in charge and the telephone number is 107. Subscribers may call this number until 6:30 in the evening if their papers were not delivered.

New Front Line Will Take Floor For Kaws Tonight

Bootz Shoved to Forward With Lambie, Peterson at Center

Kaukauna — Assorting his players in a hunt for more height and to give varsity experience to a greater number before next week's tournament, Coach Paul Little will put a new starting lineup on the floor against West De Pere at 8:15 tonight.

Both Koehne and Vanevenhoven, regular forwards, will step out of the picture, at least for a while. Bootz will be moved to a forward post with Lambie as his running mate and Peterson will open at center. This combination, along with Hatchell and Hanby at guards, has been practicing together in workouts this week.

The shift will give the Kaws a decided boost in their height average, for all three men who will comprise the front line are tall.

Need Scoring Punch

If the Kaws lift themselves out of the slump which has characterized their play the past weeks, they may get even with the Black Phantoms for the game earlier in the season when West De Pere nosed ahead in the last few minutes to win 32-30. If they expect to win tonight, Coach Little's cagers will have to adjust their shooting sights to a finer edge. They've had little trouble getting within range of the basket in recent games, but their bombardments haven't brought enough points.

West DePere slipped to second place in conference standing a few weeks ago after leading throughout most of the season. Latus, one of the most brilliant guards in conference annals, is far ahead in league scoring for both divisions. Other outstanding men on the Black Phantoms' team are Connie Berken, center, and Van Sistine, forward.

Little Chute Keglers Take Bowling Match

Kaukauna—The Little Chute Bottling Works, winners of the first-half title in the High School Bowling league, continued their victory march yesterday by winning three games from Rennickes. The bottlers were led by R. Martzahl with a 531 series on games of 187, 192, and 172, but a member of the losing team, B. Nagan, cracked the maples for the best series of the match, a 537 on scores of 213, 169, and 155.

Toonens' swept their three-game match with the Hass three. Kuchelmeister chalked up a 581 series for the winners, the highest of the day, on games of 196, 197, and 188.

He was the only bowler in the league to move past the 600 mark.

O. Alger's score of 217 in his second game was high for the evening. His team, Schell Alley, won two and lost one in their match with the High School Faculty. Kaukauna Fines $121 Last Month

Police Chief Submits February Report to Common Council

Kaukauna—Arrests made by the police during the month of February brought in a $121.50 to the city in fines, the monthly report submitted to the common council by Police Chief James McFadden shows. There is still pending on fines $20.60 which when collected will boost the month's total to $142.10.

This money was paid out by nine men, two of them drunken drivers who were assessed $50 each. The other seven were guilty of disorderly conduct, six paying fines of $1 each and one $3. Added to this amount of $109 is $33.10 for police fees.

The police department served five summons during the month, three garnishees, and one notice to vacate.

ENTERTAIN COUNCIL

Kaukauna—Following their meeting Tuesday night, members of the city council accepted the invitation of the American Legion to a dinner at the club rooms on Island street. The dinner followed a regular meeting of the Legion.

The largest of the Aleutian islands, Alaska, is Unimak. It is barren and mountainous.

BY VICTOR EUBANK

New York—(AP)—The buying temperature dropped in today's stock market and an assortment of recent surging leaders retreated fractions to 2 or more points.

The reaction was attributed mainly to profit selling based on the recent sharp advance which shot the averages up to a 6 year high.

Merchandising, farm implement, utility and specialty issues managed to weather the squall. Trading activity, after a speedy first four, was comparatively slow. Transfers were around 2,700,000 shares.

A dip in the principal foreign currencies tended to check stock buying contingents. Some traders sought the sidelines pending the president's Democratic dinner speech tonight.

Rails were among the best actors in the morning. The majority fell back before the close.

On the upside during the greater part of the session were Youngstown Sheet & Tube, Montgomery Ward, Sears Roebuck, Allied Stores, Field, Deere, J. I. Case, Oliver Farm, International Harvester, United Aircraft, Western Union, Consolidated Edison, North American, Electric Power & Light, American Water Works, U. S. Smelting and Canada Dry.

Steers and Lambs Have Steady Tone

Downward Trend Prevails In Hog Trading at Chicago Yards

Chicago — (AP) — Although there were no early sales of steers and lambs at yesterday tops, which were the highest for March in seven years, the markets showed no signs of backtracking today.

Scarcity of choice animals eligible to sell at these highs was the main reason for the lack of top sales, but this situation stimulated the demand and cattle and lambs of lower quality.

Today's beef top of $14.40 compared with the best price yesterday of $15.

Buying interests bid unevenly lower for ordinary lambs in today's early trade but most sellers held their ground in demanding unchanged quotations. There were no sales up to yesterday's $11.45 peak in early rounds.

The hog run was in line with trade expectations for the first time this week and this gave a downward trend to prices. The market started off unchanged but then dropped 5 to 10 cents with lights off more in instances. Top was $10.40.

CHICAGO LIVESTOCK

Chicago—(AP)—(U. S. D. A.)—Hogs 16,000, including 6,000 direct; market opened around steady with Wednesday's average; now 5-10 lower; lightweights off more in instances; top 10.40; bulk good and choice 180-325 lb. 10.10-35; sows steady; pigs scarce and steady; bulk sows 9.50-75.

Cattle 5,000, calves 1,500; general trade steady; choice and prime steers absent; slightly too many common and medium warmed up and shortfed lightweight steers in crop; these slow, steady to weak; all representative weights and grades sharply higher than week ago, however, took to prime offering ruling 50-75 up with common and medium grades 25-50 higher; kinds scaling over 1,050 lb. showing most advance; top today 14.00; long yearlings 14.00; mostly 8.50-11.50 market on steers; heifers very scarce, firm; sows slow, steady; bulls unchanged at 6.50 down; light vealers 6.50-8.00.

Sheep 11,000, including 200 direct; strictly choice handweights scarce early indications around steady for best kinds; for handyweights freshly shown lambs at 9.25 steady; sheep scarce, steady, few choice handyweight fat ewes 6.50.

Chicago Wheat in Upward Trend in Closing Period

Important Selling Lacking But Buying Is Not Unusually Heavy

Chicago —(AP)— Upturns of wheat prices predominated in late trading today, more because of absence of important selling than as a result of enlarged purchases.

Unofficial crop estimates issued today were regarded in the main as only tentative. Very little export business in Canadian wheat today was confirmed.

At the close, wheat was unchanged to ⅞ higher compared with yesterday's finish, May 1.33¾-⅞, July 1.14⅜-½, corn ⅛ off to ⅜ advance, and provisions varying from 2 cents decline to an equal gain.

Poppy Sale Developed Into 'Racket,' Charge

Milwaukee—(AP)—A charge that the annual sale of poppies in Milwaukee and other cities was a "racket" was made last night at a meeting of the Milwaukee county council of the American Legion.

William Mulvaney, vice commander of Post 101 who served as chairman of his post's poppy committee last year, made the assertion during a discussion regarding whether the American Legion should take part in the sale held on the Saturday before Memorial day or should observe the day in some other manner.

"It is no longer a secret," he said "that Poppy day, originated by the American Legion, has been degraded by other so-called veterans' organizations into a racket.

"Instead of using the money derived for service work in the interest of disabled veterans, these organizations have been diverting these publicly-collected funds to their own corporate use," he continued.

Protests LaGuardia's Reference to Hitler

Washington— (AP)— The German embassy protested to the state department today against a speech made in New York yesterday by Mayor F. H. LaGuardia in which he was quoted as referring to Adolf Hitler.

Dr. Hans Thompson, counsellor of the embassy, filed the protest with James Clement Dunn, chief of the state department's western European division, on direct instructions from Berlin.

German sources here said the mayor's speech was regarded as an insult to the German nation.

LaGuardia was quoted as having suggested at a luncheon of the women's division of the American Jewish congress that the 1939 New York world fair have a "chamber of horrors" in which Hitler would be the chief exhibit.

Dunn promised the embassy attache the matter would be brought immediately to the attention of Secretary Hull.

Report Slight Setback In Condition of Pope

Vatican City — (AP) — Pope Pius' steady improvement was set back somewhat today as the holy father rounded out the third month of serious, sometimes critical illness, confident he will be able to remain active head of the church for many months to come.

Vatican sources said there was nothing alarming in the slight relapse which they regarded as purely cyclical in character. They described the condition as functional rather than organic.

The principal symptom was described as an increase in the pontiff's susceptibility to fatigue. The holy father, who is 79 years old, was stricken Dec. 5.

Bond Transactions Lack Definite Trend

New York—(AP)—Convertible liens today supplied the main motion in a bond market which seemed unable to develop a definite trend.

By midday the corporate list showed something like an even change. U. S. governments also were deeply grooved, with a few trifling gains in treasuries and some losses in the Home Owners' Loan Corp. group.

Youngstown Sheet and Tube 3¾s pushed up more than 5 points in early trading.

Principal Accused of Slapping Her Pupils

Merrill —(AP)— Indignant mothers met with the school board last night to protest that Miss Cecil Warzinik, veteran school principal, had subjected pupils to a "regime for fear" by spanking and slapping them.

Miss Warzinik, appearing in her own defense, admitted spanking one 7-year-old boy and slapping another with her hand. She contended she merely was doing her duty to correct children for infractions of rules. The school board took the case under advisement.

sit-down strike which affected 14,000 employes.

Company officials met with representatives of the United Automobile Workers of America and an understanding was reached before day shift workers entered the plant.

The strike, largest in number of employes affected since the General Motors' shutdowns, started when 1,500 men in the assembly and panel units quit work last night at their posts on the second and third floors of the plant. Union leaders charged the company violated an agreement on speed of production.

Another mass sit-down strike, at the Murray Corporation of America was settled last night and 1,500 union members evacuated. Both companies manufacture automobile bodies.

Already bargaining with two of the country's largest automobile producers, the U. A. W. A. prepared for similar conferences with three parts manufacturers.

CCC Workers Not Legal Residents at Camp Sites

Madison —(AP)— Governor LaFollette signed today a bill which denies to civilian conservation corps workers a legal residence at the site of Wisconsin camps.

The measure, introduced by Speaker Paul Alfonsi, (P), Pence also relieves communities in which transient camps are located, or where state or federal work relief programs are in progress, from obligation for the welfare of persons who become residents temporarily, even though they stay more than a year.

The law kills many relief aid claims filed by municipalities, principally Milwaukee, against county boards of northern Wisconsin.

knew the answer. And each hesitated to force the other to any admission. Whereas I—as an outside onlooker—perceived at once that Bigelow suspected Anne of shooting Vronski and Anne suspected Bigelow which proved that neither could actually have done it."

Eliminating Dryden

Bigelow and Anne stared at him. Both colored guiltily, but their eyes were shining as they turned again to regard each other.

"But you behaved as if you were guilty—" cried Anne, protestingly.

"I didn't," declared Bigelow emphatically. "I couldn't have. But I certainly thought you did."

"You both behaved, smiled Anne Trelitz, "as if each thought the other was guilty. You were doing your best to shield each other. It was quite charming."

Once again, they blushed, although they laughed a little.

"You see we couldn't be sure," explained Anne, "because I had admitted that I hated Vronski and he had offered to deal with him for me. And I had gone into the bathroom. But there was another entrance to the studio from there, through the bedroom. Just as there was a way in from the kitchen through the hall."

"I thought Anne must have come in on account of the gun," said Bigelow, a little inclined to defend his position. "She could easily have got it from the bed-side table on her way through the bedroom, you see—whereas how would Karsanakoff have known it was there?"

"She couldn't have," admitted Anne. "And you couldn't have, either. That fact has been puzzling me all along."

"Are you certain that Vronski was actually killed with your automatic?" asked Australia.

"Yes, certain," answered Anne. "I recognized it at once."

"And there was one bullet fired from it. I examined it before I disposed of it," said Bigelow.

"It's a baffling problem," admitted Australia. "If Karsanakoff wouldn't have known where to find it—I suppose Dryden could have been faced with the same difficulty, even if he had been able to get in unseen and unheard."

"Besides, according to his story, he was already armed," pointed out Bigelow. "One would assume that he would have used his own gun, since he had brought it for that purpose."

tion boards in scaling down the debts of farmers facing foreclosure.

Under the new bill the FCA will take on added duties by aiding general home owners.

One amendment voted down was offered by Frank Graass (R), Sturgeon Bay, who proposed to dissolve the agency at the end of this fiscal year, July 1. Graass claimed it would not be needed after that date.

The house also killed an amendment by R. W. Peterson (R), Berlin, to discontinue the organization after July 1, 1938. Peterson argued that its field workers might engage in political activities in the 1938 campaign.

No Sign of Tampering

O. A. Rice (R), Delavan, who is secretary of the Walworth County Mediation board, said there had been no evidence of political tampering by the organization and that its services are needed now more than ever.

Hungry assemblymen delayed lunch for an hour to complete action on the bill and send it back to the senate, where concurrence is expected. The only change outside of reducing the appropriation was to place the personnel under civil service.

Active work to draft an administration bill for the reorganization of state departments started today at a luncheon meeting between Governor LaFollette and the special legislative committee appointed at his request.

The executive, who has proposed a cabinet form of administrative government in place of existing three man commissions, outlined his view at a closed, informal conference.

Members of the board of directors of the Appleton Chamber of Commerce will meet Friday noon at Hotel Northern. A luncheon will precede the meeting at which usual business will be considered.

Badger Prisons Received 1,019 Persons in 1935

Federal Figures Show Burglary Tops List Of State Offenses

Post-Crescent Washington Bureau

Washington—Badger state prisons and reformatories received 1,019 prisoners in 1935, less than one-third as many as Texas, the highest for the country, which put 3,165 new prisoners in its institutions during the year, the Census Bureau reports.

In the east-north central section, of which Wisconsin is a part, Illinois with 2,855 had the greatest number of prisoners sent to its institutions by the courts, followed by Michigan which had 2,590.

The greatest number of prisoners sent to Badger State institutions during 1935, by offense, were 221 on burglary charges, followed by 127 sentenced for larceny and 91 for robbery. Seventy-three were sentenced for auto theft, sixty-nine for rape, sixty-eight for forgery, twenty-one for homicide, four for violation of drug laws and 12 for violating liquor laws.

In the country as a whole, as in Wisconsin, burglary and larceny were the offenses represented by the largest numbers, 33.3 per cent of all prisoners received having been committed for these two offenses. Other offenses represented by large numbers were homicide, robbery, forgery, and violating liquor laws. These six offenses were also the most common offenses committed by the male prisoners—the most common for females in order of the number of prisoners received were sex offenses, larceny, disorderly conduct and drunkenness, and homicide.

Many Are Paroled

Of the methods for discharging prisoners in 1935, parole was the most common—54.2 per cent of all prisoners discharged during the year. The offense showing the highest percentage of discharged prisoners paroled, is violating drug laws—representing 76.7 per cent of all prisoners paroled; the next highest—68.2 per cent — embezzlement and fraud, and the lowest—33.5 per cent—disorderly conduct and drunkenness.

The proportion of discharged prisoners pardoned in 1935 apparently varied roughly with the gravity of the offense, according to the census report, being highest for homicide, next highest for rape and then gradually decreasing to zero in the case of carrying weapons and drunkenness and disorderly conduct.

In 1935, 531 "lifers" were discharged. Of this number, 192 were paroled, 93 pardoned and eight, who are listed under "expiration of term," died.

Doctor of Philosophy Degree Given to Pusey

Nathan M. Pusey, sophomore tutor at Lawrence college, has been granted the Doctor of Philosophy degree by Harvard university, according to word received here. The degree has been awarded for work in the field of ancient history, in which Dr. Pusey recently completed and submitted a dissertation on the laws of the Athenians.

Dr. Pusey came to Lawrence as tutor in September, 1935, after having studied at Harvard, from which he has the Bachelor of Arts and Master of Arts degrees. The WORLD of STAMPS

BY QUINTON JAMES

The head of King George II, who spent 11 years in exile, is strikingly engraved in bas relief efect on the new issue from Greece.

George II was recalled to the throne following a plebiscite in 1935. These are the first stamps to bear his portrait.

The storminess of Greek politics has caused several ups and downs for the Glucksburg dynasty since that calm day in 1890 when George was born at Tatoi, the royal villa near Athens. He is the eldest son of the late King Constantine. When Constantine was first deposed in 1917, the allies would not permit George to succeed him. They thought he liked the Germans too well. They preferred his younger brother, Alexander.

Constantine got his throne back in 1920. The next year George married Princess Elizabeth, daughter of King Ferdinand and Queen Marie of Rumania. A revolution deposed Constantine again and George ascended the throne with his bride in 1922.

A counter-revolution failed in 1923 and Greece grew too warm for the king. He and the queen left in December, 1923. In March the assembly deposed the dynasty and a plebiscite confirmed the vote. The republic lasted until 1935, and now the Glucksburgs are back again.

Four values of the George II stamps have been received so far: 1-drachma green, 3-d brown, 8-d deep blue and 100-d rose red.

* * *

Collectors of U. S. can add four new stamps to their albums—the 3-cent denominations of the army-navy set and the 20 and 50-cent transpacific airmails.

Of the usual purple shade, the 3-cent army-navy stamps continue this set's illustrations of national service heroes. On the army stamps are heads of Generals Sherman, Grant and Sheridan in oval frames. Grant's picture is centered. The navy stamp depicts Admirals Farragut (left) and Porter (right). Between them sails a warship of their period.

The transpacific airmails adopt the design of the 25-cent blue, but omit the date—November, 1935. That was the date when air mail service to the Philippines started. Now it is being extended to the coast of China.

* * *

The London stamp market is reported experiencing a shortage of rare issues. This is thought to be due to demands from America and France. At the same time values have been going up. An Egyptian stamp recently listed at 20 cents is now priced 75.

Costa Rica has issued three diamond-shaped stamps to commemorate its first national fair. They picture a plane flying over Poas volcano. Values are 1-centavo slate, 2-c red brown, and 3-c purple.

Germany has withdrawn from postal sale the commemoratives issued in 1935. These are the Saar jubilee war heroes, juvenile workers' athletic games, Bach-Handel, railroad, Hitler, youth, nazi conference and Munich "putsch" issues.

HAPPY RELIEF FROM PAINFUL BACKACHE

Caused by Tired Kidneys

Many of those gnawing, nagging, painful backaches people blame on colds or strains are often caused by tired kidneys—and may be relieved when treated in the right way.

The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking excess acids and poisonous waste out of the blood. Most people pass about 3 pints a day or about 3 pounds of waste.

If the 15 miles of kidney tubes and filters don't work well, poisonous waste matter stays in the blood. These poisons may start nagging backaches, rheumatic pains, lumbago, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from the blood. Get Doan's Pills.

Callahan Praises Appleton School

Institutions for Handicapped Children Commended in Report

Madison— Warm praise for those public schools in the state which maintain special classes for the training of handicapped children, including the schools of Appleton, is contained in the report of John Callahan, state superintendent of public instruction, to Governor Phillip F. LaFollette and the state legislature.

The statement of the superintendent says: "The special classes of the public schools have come to the rescue of the handicapped child. The mentally handicapped are among the most needy and their care most necessary to the state."

In the special classes, Callahan reports, gifted teachers trained for the work study the child to discover the abilities which he has, the child learns to do valuable work in all studies, he learns to be clean, honest and self respecting, and he learns good citizenship by practice in his social group.

According to Callahan's report Green Bay last year provided special classes for children who are deaf, those defective in speech, and those mentally defective. Appleton offers similar classes and also has an orthopedic school for crippled children.

Other cities in the area offering special classes for handicapped children are Kaukauna, Marinette, New London, DePere, Neenah and Menasha.

Municipal League Meets March 9-10

City Planning and Park Recreation Will be Considered

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau

Madison—Various phases of municipal planning and zoning will be considered at the planning and park recreation conference to be conducted by the League of Wisconsin Municipalities here March 9 and 10. Among the speakers at the conference will be L. Earl Foglesong, superintendent of parks of the city of Green Bay, who will speak on "Park Concessions, Their Location, Operation and Management" at the Wednesday afternoon session, March 10.

According to F. M. McMillin, League secretary many cities and villages throughout Wisconsin have indicated interest in the subject of municipal planning and zoning in recent years, and many local plan commissions have been appointed, but to date there has been no opportunity for the members of the commissions to meet to discuss common problems. The conference next week will fill that need.

Prominent municipal officials of Wisconsin, and state university experts will lead the discussions.

Historical Data on College Being Sought

Lawrence college has opened the decade leading to its centennial celebration in 1947 with an appeal to the people of the states to help the college locate any heretofore undiscovered historical information, objects or material concerned with its earlier days. Dr. William F. Raney, professor of English history addressing the Outagamie County Pioneer and Historical society recently, asked Wisconsinites to lend or give such material as they could to the American history museum at Lawrence. Dr. John B. MacHarg, professor of American history, is in charge of the museum.

Pupils Build Model Airplane at School

Aviation will probably become the chosen profession of many Washington Grade school kindergarten pupils since the construction of a model airplane in the classroom. The plane is built along lines of the older 2-seated open models and is equipped with propeller, wings, fuselage and tail.

Pupils have charted regular routes in the Fox river valley area and take trips during their spare time. Tickets are sold for the rides and the pupils alternate in acting as pilot.

Installation of a new synchronous motor generator set has been completed at the vocational school electrical shop under the direction of Clyde Cavert, instructor. The 15-horsepower motor is used in running tests on other machines.

The new switchboard which was installed about two weeks ago will control the new motor which also can be belted to drive other machines. Men enroled in advanced electrical classes run characteristic tests with the motor and later compare their computations with those supplied by the company.

FIX THAT COLD

And Fix It Right—Depend on No Mere Half-way Measures!

A cold neglected may be a cold regretted!

Many a "slight" cold has ended in flu and pneumonia.

Treat a cold quickly and treat it sensibly.

Forego "cure-alls". A cold calls for a cold treatment and not a preparation good for all kinds of ailments.

A cold also calls for internal treatment for a cold is an internal infection.

Grove's Laxative Bromo Quinine is what you want for a cold. First, it is a cold tablet, made expressly for the treatment of colds and nothing else.

Secondly, it is internal medication, fourfold in effect.

Here's what it does:

First, it opens the bowels, an advisable step in treating a cold.

Second, it checks the infection in the system, a vital step.

Third, it relieves the headache and fever.

Fourth, it tones the system and helps fortify against further attack.

These four effects make a real cold treatment and in Bromo Quinine you get them all in the form of a single tablet.

Bromo Quinine tablets now come sugar-coated as well as plain. The sugar-coated are exactly the same as the regular, except that the tablets are coated with sugar for palatability.

Be prudent, be careful! At the first signs of a cold, go right to your druggist for a package of Bromo Quinine. Begin taking the tablets immediately, two every four hours.

That prompt treatment will usually stop a cold in 24 hours and that's the speed of action you want.

Bromo Quinine contains nothing harmful and is safe to take. Get these famous cold tablets at any drug store, and insist upon getting what you ask for.

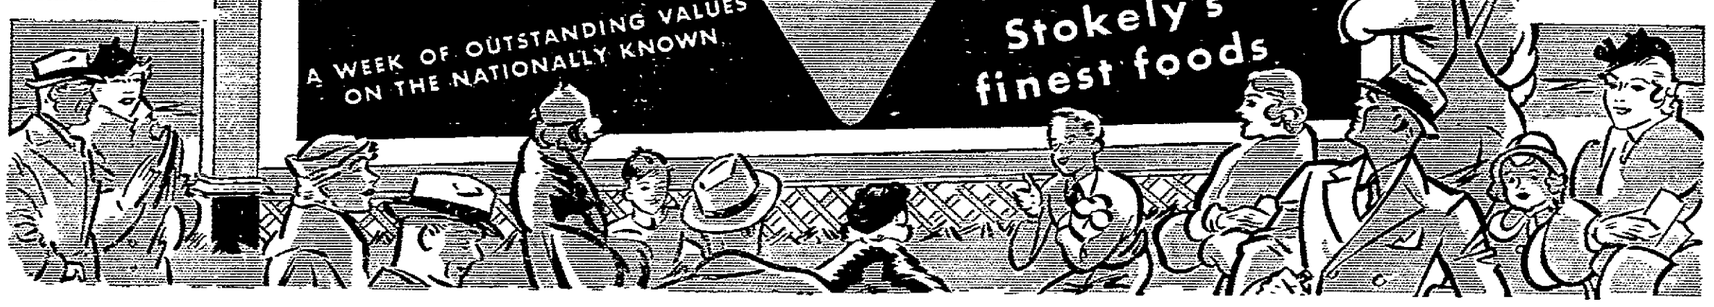

The few pennies' cost may save you a lot of expense and worry.
